Snow, Sleet: State's Roads Are Icy

Many Nebraska road surfaces were icy or snow packed Friday night because of snow and sleet, according to the State Safety Patrol. And though the weather man predicted a general let-up in precipitation for the holiday week-end, hazardous conditions on the highways would remain as temperatures were expected to drop.

State Highway Maintenance Engineer John McMeekin urged motorists to drive with extreme caution.

Travelers planning holiday air trips were assured that air lines operations were running near normal.

Phones Affected
Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Co. officials Friday reported high winds and icing had caused damage to some telephone lines between Lincoln and Beatrice and in the Bennett area. By early evening the company said they had been repaired. Slight trouble was also reported in the David City, Brainerd, and Shelby areas.

Ice on transmission lines also caused a minor power failure in east Lincoln Friday afternoon, but Consumers Public Power officials said it was quickly restored. Radio station KLMS was off the air for a short time.

According to the Safety Patrol, Interstate Highway 80 west of Lincoln was 100% ice covered; east of the city coverage was only in spots.

The Patrol said road conditions varied considerably in the eastern portion of the state. Ice and snow made roads hazardous at Columbus, Wahoo, Geneva, Fremont, Omaha, Beatrice, Fairbury, Holdrege, Falls City, and Nebraska City.

Slick In Spots
Main snowfalls were in the north and west of Nebraska. Sidney had four inches; North Platte, three; Scottsbluff, two; Valentine and Norfolk both reported one.

The Safety Patrol reported some snow packing in all of these areas and also in Broken Bow, Ord, Chadron and Grand Island. But in general, packing was spotty.

In the southwest, the Patrol said roads in Imperial and McCook were wet.

Road surfaces in north central Nebraska were reported as nearly 100% ice covered, with conditions unchanged since late Thursday night.

Collie Rescued After 24 Hours In Sewer

By DICK BUDIG
Star Staff Writer
Take one normal, inquisitive, frisky 5-year old collie, add a hopping hare who darts into the first available hole, and you've got trouble. At least, that's the theory Lincoln Humane Society men advance Friday to explain how a full grown collie got herself trapped inside a 12-inch storm sewer.

The dog's plight was discovered late Thursday afternoon by Virgil Dearthmont, 14, of 1900 Pacific Drive when he heard the sound of a whimpering dog coming from a sewer opening in front of his home. Humane Society man, Larry Buckner, who worked with young Dearthmont's father late into the night, thought the animal was small and could not understand why it did not come when called.

When rescue operations were resumed Friday morning, it was thought the trapped dog was small because he had moved from in front of the Dearthmont home across the street and under the front lawn of the May Morley Elementary School. Rescuers tried coaxing the dog again Friday, then sent a ball with a rope attached into the line.

ing after 63 feet of the steel line has been pushed into the sewer. "But, what had us fooled was that the dog's voice sounded as loud at one end as at the other. We couldn't tell if the dog was moving ahead of the probe or staying put," said Dick Vaughn, a Humane Society man. When the auger failed to produce the dog, the operation was stopped while more sewer and street department men, off work for the holiday, were located.

A digging machine, operated by John Smith of the street department, uncovered the sewer line, which was broken open with an air hammer. One of the men in the rescue party got down and looked into the sewer. "It's a collie," he reported a few moments later. "She's just out of reach." The hole was enlarged and a very tattered looking collie blinked up at the group huddled together in a driving, 29-degree wind. The dog was rushed to Dr. Ralph Ebers, a Lincoln veterinarian, who had agreed to remain at his business until the animal was rescued. "She suffered exposure and is exhausted, but she should survive," he said. Dr. Ebers said he did not think the dog spent more than 24 hours entombed in the sewer line. "She would be in much worse shape if she had been in there longer than 24 hours," he said. Next on the list for the bedraggled collie was a bath, a good night's sleep and finding its owner. "The dog had no identification," Dr. Ebers said. "She's a pureblood and undoubtedly a very fine dog."

Luci Gets Diamond, Will Wed In Summer

Austin, Tex. (UPI) — Luci Baines Johnson was engaged Friday night to Patrick John Nugent, 22, and will be married in the late summer, the white house announced Friday night.

Acting Press Secretary Joseph Laitin relayed the word to reporters that President and Mrs. Johnson announced the engagement of their 18-year-old daughter, Luci, to Nugent, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Nugent of Wankegan, Ill.

The announcement came after the family finished opening their Christmas gifts around their ceiling-high Mexican pinon Christmas tree in the sitting room of the Lyndon Johnson's LBJ Ranch house.

3 Diamonds
Nugent's gift to black-haired, blue-eyed Luci was a white gold engagement ring with three diamonds, a large center diamond with two smaller baguette diamonds on either side.

Before getting married, Luci will finish her freshman year at Georgetown University School of Nursing, which she entered last fall. Nugent is in basic training in the Air Reserve at Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio, Tex., about 80 miles from the LBJ Ranch.

He formally entered the training Nov. 28 and later will be attached to his flight squadron in the reserves in Milwaukee, Wis.

His training will be completed in approximately six weeks.

Nugent graduated from Marquette University as a history major last June. He received his bachelor's degree.

Luci is a convert to the Catholic faith. Nugent also is Catholic.

Luci broke the news to her father that she wanted to marry Nugent when Johnson was in Bethesda, Md., Naval Hospital recuperating from gall bladder surgery.

After the President and Mrs. Johnson arrived at the ranch for the President's convalescence, Luci and Nugent flew to Texas Oct. 28 to try to get Johnson's approval of their engagement. He held out for a while and asked them to wait.

Johnson's consent to Luci's forthcoming marriage apparently was his big Christmas present to her.

Seven Rounds Fired

. . . BY REDS

Saigon (AP) — Christmas dawned as a day of peace for American troops and their allies in war-torn Viet Nam. A cease-fire that began Christmas Eve brought a temporary halt to the conflict that has ravaged this Southeast Asian nation for years.

A truce ordered by U.S. and Vietnamese forces began at 6 p.m. Friday night and was to continue—unless a need for self-defense arose—until next midnight.

The Communist Viet Cong earlier had proposed a 12-hour halt to the fighting and it was scheduled to end at 7 a.m.

Mortar
Seven mortar rounds were fired Friday night by the Viet Cong near the U.S. Marine base at Chu Lai, south of Da Nang, but U.S. military spokesmen said that this was not considered a violation of the cease-fire.

"It was no more than a matter of poor communications" with men in the field, the spokesmen said.

They said three mortar rounds were fired about 8:30 p.m. and four about an hour later.

"They fell well short of the Marine perimeter," the spokesmen added. "There were no casualties and there was no damage. It was only a matter of poor communications—and that is the way we have chalked the incident off."

Not Breach
"In no way can this be considered a breach of the cease-fire."

The Marines, on the alert even with the cease-fire in effect, did not respond to the mortar fire.

On Christmas Eve, Saigon itself set the mood for the embattled country with a jubilant and carefree air. Its wide tree-lined streets were packed with old and young.

At a huge military air base, Francis Cardinal Spellman said midnight mass for 4,000 American servicemen. A portable altar was set up on a stage made of three Air Force trailers normally used for carrying bombs.

From St. Louis came word that about 150 Midwestern clergymen of many faiths have endorsed an appeal that four church leaders telegraphed Thursday to President Johnson:

"We pray that you will discover means to further extend the Christmas truce in Viet Nam so that by negotiation peace with justice may be achieved."

The leaders are Missouri Episcopal Bishop George L. Cadigan; Missouri Methodist Bishop Eugene M. Frank; Joseph Cardinal Ritter, Roman Catholic archbishop of St. Louis, and Rabbi Joseph Rosenbloom, president of the St. Louis Rabbinical Association.

Ken Lydick Found Dead Of Pistol Shot

Kenneth Lydick, 55, of 6161 So. 70th St., was found dead of a pistol shot through the head in his car 3 1/2 miles east of South 56th St. on old Cheney Road Friday.

County Attorney Paul Douglas said that an autopsy had shown that Lydick was killed by a pistol shot through the head. Douglas said that his office was investigating the nature of Lydick's death.

Lydick, who was manager of the World Wars Veterans Club and former part owner of Ken Eddy's Restaurant, was found at about 3:40 p.m.

Luci Gets Diamond, Will Wed In Summer

Austin, Tex. (UPI) — Luci Baines Johnson was engaged Friday night to Patrick John Nugent, 22, and will be married in the late summer, the white house announced Friday night.

Acting Press Secretary Joseph Laitin relayed the word to reporters that President and Mrs. Johnson announced the engagement of their 18-year-old daughter, Luci, to Nugent, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Nugent of Waukegan, Ill.

The announcement came after the family finished opening their Christmas gifts around their ceiling-high Mexican pinon Christmas tree in the sitting room of the Lyndon Johnson's LBJ Ranch house.

Supply Bottleneck Hurts U.S. Effort In Viet Nam

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. efforts to whip the communists in Viet Nam are suffering from a supply bottleneck that probably will get worse before it gets better.

With nearly 200,000 troops in Viet Nam now and many more expected during the next year, the creaking port facilities of Saigon, Qui Nhon and Da Nang are swamped.

Often ammunition, bombs and shells are taken off ships and rushed direct to the combat zones where reserves are marginal.

Cargo is stacked up all the way back to the United States, waiting often for weeks and months to move. During an average week, 80-100 ships wait off the coast or on rivers to unload in Viet Nam.

Barely Tolerable

On the military side, one high source says the present bottleneck is barely tolerable and the U.S. fighting effort has minimum adequate logistics support.

On the civilian side, the situation is serious. With military cargo under priority, the U.S. aid program to get food, building materials, cloth and the like for the Vietnamese economy has been seriously blunted.

Prices of such items as cooking oil, salt, clothing, fertilizer and cement have skyrocketed

Laos Premier Against Letting In U.S. Troops

Vientiane, Laos (AP)—The Laotian government welcomed Friday a British report accusing North Viet Nam of military action in Laos in violation of international agreements.

But Premier Souvanna Phouma announced his opposition to the entry of U.S. ground forces to block North Vietnamese infiltrating down the Ho Chi Minh Trail.

"So long as I am the chief of government I will not involve my country in this adventure," Souvanna said in a letter responding to questions about the possibility of American troops entering Laos to

March Points Up 'Black Yule' Drive

Natchez, Miss. (AP)—Nearly 500 Negroes marched peacefully through nearby Fayette Friday in a Christmas Eve protest against racial discrimination.

The demonstration, was dramatizing their "black Christmas" campaign.

A similar march scheduled for Natchez was called off because of rain.

Under orders from Gov. Paul Johnson, 60 state highway patrolmen stood guard to preserve order. This southwest Mississippi region is a hotbed of Ku Klux Klan activity.

Whites gathered in knots at Fayette—25 miles to the north—and stared silently as the Negroes walked through the small rural community's streets and gathered in Confederate Park for prayers and a rally.

"We're going to march until you give us what we want," Charles Evers, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People field secretary for Mississippi, told whites who gathered across the street from the small park. "We are sick and tired of people like you running over us, working our people for $25 a week."

"We don't want you to be good to the Negro. Just be good to Jefferson County citizens."

Fayette is the seat of Jefferson County, where Negroes outnumber whites 3 to 1.

The NAACP has sponsored a Christmas-buying boycott at Fayette in an effort to win racial concessions. Evers, directing the drive, called for a "black Christmas"—no present or holiday decorations in Negro homes. Whites countered with a "buy-in" designed to offset the loss of Negro trade.

Standing beneath the Confederate monument, Evers vowed that the Fayette boycott would continue until Ne-

Hope's Card Burner Jokes Hit With Troops

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—Bob Hope conquered this war zone Friday with a barrage of barbed remarks about college draft card burners. He staged a two-hour Christmas Eve show on a soccer field at Tan Son Nhut Air Base.

Carrying on a tradition of entertaining American troops at Christmas that dates back to World War II the entertainer, 63, braved a tropical sun and ignored a sprained ankle to keep an audience of 5,000 U.S. servicemen in a state of howling glee.

"I'm glad to be back here," Hope said. "Like Henry Cabot Lodge, I'm a two-time loser."

Then he got down to the subject that makes American servicemen in Viet Nam madder than anything else: peace pickets and draft card burners.

Salvo, Thunder

Hope drew thunderous applause with each salvo: "You men have a very important job, making the world safe for our peace pickets..."

"The demonstrations are dying down back home, they've run out of matches. Now instead of burning their draft cards, they're burning their library cards..."

"If you've seen the hairdos on some of these guys, you'd be glad they aren't on our side."

"But one thing, they are doing our side some good by sending their blood to the Viet Cong."

Bath Objectors

"Most of them are really conscientious objectors. What they object to most is taking a bath."

Hope made a breezy reference to the terrorist incident that greeted his troupe in Saigon last Christmas Eve. A few minutes after the troupe arrived the Brink Hotel, a U.S. officers billet, was blown up, killing two persons and injuring more than 100.

"Saigon is really a very friendly city," Hope said. "Last time I was here a hotel came out to meet me. This time the security is the and probably will go higher. The inflation undermines the government which desperately needs whatever popular support it can muster.

Port From Scratch

To smash the bottleneck, the United States is building a complete port from scratch at Cam Ranh Bay 175 miles northeast of Saigon. It also is expanding the capital's docking facilities and those at other coastal ports, primarily Qui Nhon and Da Nang.

Cam Ranh Bay will not be fully operational until spring and even then the problem for the northern ports will not be solved. World War II LSTs are being pulled out of mothballs and a major effort to bring in material "over the beach" to areas without ports will begin in earnest.

The supply problem is complicated by the fact that the Viet Cong have virtually destroyed the railroad that once ran from Saigon to the frontier 430 miles north. Most roads are cut and all are subject to ambushes.

A year and a half ago, fewer than 20,000 Americans were in Viet Nam and nearly all the supply effort is to support government troops and the aid program.

Thousands Of Tons

The escalation began in earnest early this year and by June 80,000 tons of cargo were arriving monthly. The figure for November was 714,000. These figures will seem small in coming months.

Storage facilities are at a premium. It is not uncommon to see huge stacks of massive cardboard cartons crumbling in a monsoon downpour at Tan Son Nhut Air Base. There simply is no shelter for them.

Thousands of prefabricated warehouse buildings and storage tents are going up all over the country.

In order to bypass the bottleneck, high priority cargo often is flown direct from the United States to Viet Nam when a crisis occurs, such as a lack of spare parts for vital aircraft.

As far as the military command is concerned, the situation should improve to "satisfactory" in the next three months or so. Some logistics technicians believe this figure is far too optimistic.

NORMALLY SUNNY . . . ranch near usually dry Rillito River flooded.

Two Trees Status Symbol

By BOB PENDERGAST

Los Angeles (AP)—There's a new and seasonable status symbol hereabouts that everyone likes but the trash haulers:

Two or more Christmas trees in the home.

Besides his and hers trees, some families have one for each kiddie.

And not just any old tree either. For the children, the tree should be imitation and painted white, blue, red—anything but green. The grownups get the real thing in the standard color.

"I guess it's the newest Southern California status symbol," said Richard Givens, a railroad freight agent who has supervised the importation of more than one million trees into Southern California this month.

Especially Hollywood

Many two-tree families live in the Hollywood area, always in the forefront of fads.

But one authority says there is good reason for the existence of the multitree home and denies it is merely a fad.

"These people do a lot of entertaining," he said.

"It's the nature of the business they're in. In some homes there are parties every night from now until New Year's Day. As a result some people have trees on their patio, in their living room, den and in the children's room. It's nothing more than added decoration."

No 'Go Away Kid'

The tree for the kiddies, he said, keeps small fry out of grownups' hair while adults sip Christmas cheer and sniff the aromatic scent of pine. Everyone's happy, especially the tree salesmen.

An undisputed leader in the one-tree-is-good-but-more-is-better set is actress June Lockhart.

Soggy Arizona Wants Dry Yule

Phoenix, Ariz. (AP)—Eighty-two families in Arizona were homeless on Christmas eve, flooded out by rampaging rivers swollen by rains and record snow runoff.

Most of their homes were in communities below the confluence of the San Francisco River and the Gila, running a mile wide through extreme eastern Arizona.

The homeless were staying with friends, and authorities said there was no indication how soon they would be able to go back to their own houses.

In Phoenix, the normally dry Salt River bed was filled with water a half-mile wide as it cuts through the city.

Roads Closed

All but three roads were under some water and closed to traffic. Only one—the Central Avenue Bridge—was regarded as certain to remain open through the night.

Meanwhile, clearing skies and falling temperatures shut off the heavy runoff into streams in central and southern Arizona, and officials expressed hope for a dry, cold Christmas.

State Civil Defense Director Col. Carl N. Smith said the situation Friday was one of "diminished water flow everywhere" with further flood threats eased barring more rain or a sudden warmup.

"There's no doubt," he said, "that Phoenix and other parts of central and southern Arizona would be in real trouble if we have rain or warm winds in the next day or two."

Over $1½ Million

Tucson surveyed damage estimated at well above $1.5 million after rainfall during 13 of the past 18 days and heavy runoff from the Santa Catalina Mountains 35 miles to the north.

Rains and runoff turned the Rillito and Santa Cruz Rivers' beds into torrents which ripped open sewer lines, swept away several trailer houses, and bowled over utility poles and

Affluent Tenants Residing In Subsidized Apartments

Washington (AP)—The Federal Housing Administration has discovered that some of the moderate-income apartments it is subsidizing are occupied by people who can afford to pay regular rents.

As a result, FHA Commissioner Philip N. Brownstein said these things are going to happen:

1. Tenants whose incomes exceeded the prescribed levels when they moved in are going to be asked to move within a reasonable time.
2. Those who were eligible at the time they moved in but

YULETIDE PRAYERS

As long as mortals have the nerve

As long as conscience has a stain,
The prayers of men will be in vain.

So humbly, Lord, we ask Thee
That princely gift—sincerity.
And may we use it through Life's span.
To build on earth a better man.

And should we crave for gifts more royal,
Please make us God, a bit more loyal,
That we may give to those we serve
A measure full as they deserve.

And make us rich with eager zest
To give our work the very best,
To know the wheat, reject the chaff,
To have the nerve to stand the gaff.

O Lord, in mercy intervene
To keep our hearts both young and clean
The will to give a man a lift;

Supply Bottleneck Hurts U.S. Effort In Viet Nam

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. efforts to whip the communists in Viet Nam are suffering from a supply bottleneck that probably will get worse before it gets better.

With nearly 200,000 troops in Viet Nam now and many more expected during the next year, the creaking port facilities of Saigon, Qui Nhon and Da Nang are swamped.

Often ammunition, bombs and shells are taken off ships and rushed direct to the combat zones where reserves are marginal.

Cargo is stacked up all the way back to the United States, waiting often for weeks and months to move. During an average week, 80-100 ships wait off the coast or on rivers to unload in Viet Nam.

Barely Tolerable

On the military side, one high source says the present bottleneck is barely tolerable and the U.S. fighting effort has minimum adequate logistics support.

On the civilian side, the situation is serious. With military cargo under priority, the U.S. aid program to get food, building materials, cloth and the like for the Vietnamese economy has been seriously blunted.

Prices of such items as cooking oil, salt, clothing, fertilizer and cement have skyrocketed and probably will go higher. The inflation undermines the government which desperately needs whatever popular support it can muster.

Port From Scratch

To smash the bottleneck, the United States is building a complete port from scratch at Cam Ranh Bay 175 miles northeast of Saigon. It also is expanding the capital's docking facilities and those at other coastal ports, primarily Qui Nhon and Da Nang.

Cam Ranh Bay will not be fully operational until spring and even then the problem for the northern ports will not be solved. World War II LSTs are being pulled out of mothballs and a major effort to bring in material "over the beach" to areas without ports will begin in earnest.

The supply problem is complicated by the fact that the Viet Cong have virtually destroyed the railroad that once ran from Saigon to the frontier 430 miles north. Most roads are cut and all are subject to ambushes.

A year and a half ago, fewer than 20,000 Americans were in Viet Nam and nearly all the supply effort is to support government troops and the aid program.

Thousands Of Tons

The escalation began in earnest early this year and by June 80,000 tons of cargo were arriving monthly. The figure for November was 714,000. These figures will seem small in coming months.

Storage facilities are at a premium. It is not uncommon to see huge stacks of massive cardboard cartons crumbling in a monsoon downpour at Tan Son Nhut Air Base. There simply is no shelter for them.

Thousands of prefabricated warehouse buildings and storage tents are going up all over the country.

In order to bypass the bottleneck, high priority cargo often is flown direct from the United States to Viet Nam when a crisis occurs, such as a lack of spare parts for vital aircraft.

As far as the military command is concerned, the situation should improve to "satisfactory" in the next three months or so. Some logistics technicians believe this figure is far too optimistic.

Laos Premier Against Letting In U.S. Troops

Vientiane, Laos (AP)—The Laotian government welcomed Friday a British report accusing North Viet Nam of military action in Laos in violation of international agreements.

But Premier Souvanna Phouma announced his opposition to the entry of U.S. ground forces to block North Vietnamese infiltrating down the Ho Chi Minh Trail.

"So long as I am the chief of government I will not involve my country in this adventure," Souvanna said in a letter responding to questions about the possibility of American troops entering Laos to act against infiltrators moving into South Viet Nam.

The United States has been bombing the trail and U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara reported after a recent trip to Saigon that infiltration of other troops from north to south was being tripled, to 4,500 men a month.

The government called the British report the "first time in the long history of communist aggression and subversion in our country that there has been an international instance denouncing in so clear a fashion what has been going on for so long."

March Points Up 'Black Yule' Drive

Natchez, Miss. (AP)—Nearly 500 Negroes marched peacefully through nearby Fayette Friday in a Christmas Eve protest against racial discrimination.

The demonstration, was dramatizing their "black Christmas" campaign.

A similar march scheduled for Natchez was called off because of rain.

Under orders from Gov. Paul Johnson, 60 state highway patrolmen stood guard to preserve order. This south-western Mississippi region is a hotbed of Ku Klux Klan activity.

Whites gathered in knots at Fayette—25 miles to the north—and stared silently as the Negroes walked through the small rural community's streets and gathered in Confederate Park for prayers and a rally.

"We're going to march until you give us what we want," Charles Evers, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People field secretary for Mississippi, told whites who gathered across the street from the small park. "We are sick and tired of people like you running over us, working our people for $25 a week."

"We don't want you to be good to the Negro. Just be good to Jefferson County citizens."

Fayette is the seat of Jefferson County, where Negroes outnumber whites 3 to 1.

The NAACP has sponsored a Christmas-buying boycott at Fayette in an effort to win racial concessions. Evers, directing the drive, called for a "black Christmas"—no presents or holiday decorations in Negro homes. Whites countered with a "buy-in" designed to offset the loss of Negro trade.

Standing beneath the Confederate monument, Evers vowed that the Fayette boycott would continue until Negro demands are met. Demands include street lights and sewers in Negro areas, hiring of Negro policemen and use of courtesy titles of Mr., Mrs. and Miss when addressing Negroes.

Natchez officials agreed to a similar list of demands Dec. 3 following an economic boycott that crippled the town's business community. Evers charged Thursday that the agreement had been broken and he called for a renewal of the economic boycott here.

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—Bob Hope conquered this war zone Friday with a barrage of barbed remarks about college draft card burners. He staged a two-hour Christmas Eve show on a soccer field at Tan Son Nhut Air Base.

Carrying on a tradition of entertaining American troops at Christmas that dates back to World War II the entertainer, 63, braved a tropical sun and ignored a sprained ankle to keep an audience of 5,000 U.S. servicemen in a state of howling glee.

"I'm glad to be back here," Hope said. "Like Henry Cabot Lodge, I'm a two-time loser."

Then he got down to the subject that makes American servicemen in Viet Nam madder than anything else: peace pickets and draft card burners.

Salvo, Thunder

Hope drew thunderous applause with each salvo: "You men have a very important job, making the world safe for our peace pickets..."

"The demonstrations are dying down back home, they've run out of matches. Now instead of burning their draft cards, they're burning their library cards..."

"If you've seen the hairdos on some of these guys, you'd be glad they aren't on our side."

Two Trees Status Symbol

By BOB PENDERGAST

Los Angeles (AP)—There's a new and seasonable status symbol hereabouts that everyone likes but the trash haulers:

Two or more Christmas trees in the home.

Besides his and hers trees, some families have one for each kiddie.

And not just any old tree either. For the children, the tree should be imitation and painted white, blue, red—anything but green. The grownups get the real thing in the standard color.

"I guess it's the newest Southern California status symbol," said Richard Givens, a railroad freight agent who has supervised the importation of more than one million trees into Southern California this month.

Especially Hollywood

Many two-tree families live in the Hollywood area, always in the forefront of fads.

But one authority says there is good reason for the existence of the multitree home and denies it is merely a fad.

"These people do a lot of entertaining," he said.

"It's the nature of the business they're in. In some homes there are parties every night from now until New Year's Day. As a result some people have trees on their patio, in their living room, den and in the children's room. It's nothing more than added decoration."

No 'Go Away Kid'

The tree for the kiddies, he said, keeps small fry out of grownups' hair while adults sip Christmas cheer and sniff the aromatic scent of pine. Everyone's happy, especially the tree salesmen.

An undisputed leader in the one-tree-is-good-but-more-is-better set is actress June Lockhart.

Hope's Card Burner Jokes Hit With Troops

burning their library cards...

"If you've seen the hairdos on some of these guys, you'd be glad they aren't on our side."

Bath Objectors

"Most of them are really conscientious objectors. What they object to most is taking a bath."

Hope made a breezy reference to the terrorist incident that greeted his troupe in Saigon last Christmas Eve. A few minutes after the troupe arrived the Brink Hotel, a U.S. officers billet, was blown up, killing two persons and injuring more than 100.

"Saigon is really a very friendly city," Hope said. "Last time I was here a hotel came out to meet me. This time the security is the tightest I've ever seen. Do you ever try to shave with two faces in the mirror? They call this the Paris of the East, but most of the sidewalk cafes here didn't start off on the sidewalk."

Hope's entourage included actress Carroll Baker, in a skin-tight dress; singers Anita Bryant, Kay Stevens and Jack Jones; a dance team called the Nicholas Brothers; a perpetual motion machine called Joey Heatherton, a tiny bombshell of a blonde who did a torrid Watusi with five GIs pulled from the audience; Diana Lynn Batts, who was Miss United States in the Miss World contest; Jerry Colonna and Les Brown and his orchestra.

The show closed with Miss Bryant leading the audience in "Silent Night," just as the last flight of bombers headed home from the final air strike before the 30-hour Christmas truce proclaimed by the Vietnamese and U.S. commanders.

commander, presented Hope an engraved plaque and thanked him for giving up his Christmas each year to entertain the troops.

"You are one of the best friends the serviceman has," the general said, bringing down the heaviest volley of applause of the afternoon. "When you came here last year, there were 20,000 troops here. There are now eight times as many."

General Bussed

Smaller-sized citations were given to the others. The ceremony lost some of its military bearing when Miss Baker threw both arms around the general's neck and gave him a sizzling kiss.

Each of the other five girls in the cast did likewise until the face of the four-star general was a patchwork quilt of pastel-shaded lipstick.

Westmoreland took it all in stride, with hardly a hint of a blush showing through his sun-bronzed complexion.

Hope and his troupe of 70 flew in from Thailand. Two ligaments in his left ankle were torn at an air base Wednesday when someone accidentally brushed him off the stage. Hope minimized the incident.

"I'll do anything for a laugh," he said.

Soggy Arizona Wants Dry Yule

Phoenix, Ariz. (AP)—Eighty-two families in Arizona were homeless on Christmas eve, flooded out by rampaging rivers swollen by rains and record snow runoff.

Most of their homes were in communities below the confluence of the San Francisco River and the Gila, running a mile wide through extreme eastern Arizona.

The homeless were staying with friends, and authorities said there was no indication how soon they would be able to go back to their own houses.

Roads Closed

All but three roads were under some water and closed to traffic. Only one—the Central Avenue Bridge—was regarded as certain to remain open through the night.

Meanwhile, clearing skies and falling temperatures shut off the heavy runoff into streams in central and southern Arizona, and officials expressed hope for a dry, cold Christmas.

State Civil Defense Director

Col. Carl N. Smith said the situation Friday was one of "diminished water flow everywhere" with further flood threats eased barring more rain or a sudden warmup.

"There's no doubt," he said, "that Phoenix and other parts of central and southern Arizona would be in real trouble if we have rain or warm winds in the next day or two."

Over $1½ Million

Tucson surveyed damage estimated at well above $1.5 million after rainfall during 13 of the past 18 days and heavy runoff from the Santa Catalina Mountains 35 miles to the north.

Rains and runoff turned the Rillito and Santa Cruz Rivers' beds into torrents which ripped open sewer lines, swept away several trailer houses, and bowled over utility poles and left extensive road and crop damage.

The waters tore a two-mile gap in the sewer system, spilling sewage into the Rillito at the rate of 6 million gallons daily. Health officials said the flow imperiled deep wells and warned inhabitants of downstream farms to boil all drinking water.

11 Dead In Two Blazes

Newark, N.J. (AP)—Three persons were killed and about 30 were injured Friday when Christmas tree decorations touched off a four-alarm blaze at Military Park Hotel in the heart of the city.

The tragic Christmas Eve blaze broke out hours after eight persons died in another—apparently unrelated—fire in an apartment house that arson investigators called suspicious. Scene of the apartment blaze was about two miles west of the hotel.

Scores of guests were saved by fire ladders and by a rescue platform as they hovered on ledges and in windows of the 12-story hotel.

Dead of smoke inhalation were two men and a woman.

Yule Tree Blames

Deputy Fire Chief Joseph McLaughlin said the fire started in the lobby, rapidly spreading to the first few floors. He blames a nine-foot Christmas tree and other decorations.

He said the flames were controlled in 25 minutes, but added: "It was the smoke that was bad—the people on the top floors were worse off because they had to be rescued and couldn't call for help."

Affluent Tenants Residing In Subsidized Apartments

Washington (AP)—The Federal Housing Administration has discovered that some of the moderate-income apartments it is subsidizing are occupied by people who can afford to pay regular rents.

As a result, FHA Commissioner Philip N. Brownstein said these things are going to happen:

1. Tenants whose incomes exceeded the prescribed levels when they moved in are going to be asked to move within a reasonable time.

2. Those who were eligible at the time they moved in but whose incomes have since risen will be asked to pay higher rents or move.

3. The private operators of the apartment projects are going to be billed by FHA for the difference between the rents they are charging and the going market rates for comparable housing.

As Brownstein expressed it at a news conference: "Somebody is going to have to cough up the difference between the amount of rent that has been charged and the economic rent."

YULETIDE PRAYER

As long as mortals have the nerve
To pray for things they don't deserve;
As long as conscience has a stain,
The prayers of men will be in vain.

So humbly, Lord, we ask Thee
That princely gift—sincerity.
And may we use it through life's span,
To build on earth a better man.

And should we crave for gifts more royal,
Please make us God, a bit more loyal,

A measure full as they deserve.

Progress Cited At VA Hospital Here

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The director of Lincoln's Veterans Administration Hospital is "highly encouraged" by the pace of revitalization of the facility.

A number of staff vacancies have already been filled, and "hopefully" the hospital may be able to fill all permanent full-time positions by next July, Dr. J. Melvin Boykin said.

The hospital is still seeking another staff surgeon, an orthopedic surgeon, an additional doctor for medical service, residents in surgery and orthopedic surgery, and either an internist, psychiatrist or additional clinical psychologist, Dr. Boykin said.

Since Dec. 5, the hospital has recruited a chief of surgery and a resident in surgery, he noted.

The hospital will not be back to full capacity until the other vacant positions are filled, Dr. Boykin pointed out.

Still Two-Three Years

Even then, he said, in terms of medical experience, it will take two or three years before the hospital can return to its status prior to announcement that the facility would be closed.

The Veterans Administration announced last January that the Lincoln hospital would be scrapped, then revoked the order in June.

Patient load has now reached 148, Dr. Boykin said. It had declined to a low of 70. There were 209 patients at the hospital last Jan. 13.

The hospital has 200 beds, and 190 to 200 patients is "a reasonable census," the doctor noted.

170 Soon

Within the next two or three months, Dr. Boykin expects the patient load to hit about 170.

Twenty persons are now on the waiting list. Their treatment can be postponed until the hospital is fully staffed to meet their needs.

The hospital has been "able to build back very satisfactorily" in terms of nurses, nurses aides and other supporting personnel, Dr. Boykin said.

A major modernization program at the hospital—in terms of capital construction—should be completed within three years, Dr. Boykin estimated. Plans are still being drawn, but should be completed within six months.

Next month, work will begin on a $120,000 project to install new elevators, he said.

"Terrific Setback"

Admittedly, the closure announcement last January was "a terrific setback for this hospital," Dr. Boykin said.

"It's hard to rebuild a staff after a hospital has been threatened in this way. High caliber people are not easy to come by."

VA Administrator William Driver's visit to Lincoln last October and his assurances that the hospital would be a permanent facility, and that modernization would be accomplished, were "a great help," Dr. Boykin noted.

"Without that assurance, it would have been highly difficult to recruit."

Community Praised

It was "intense, constructive, businesslike, diplomatic community reaction supported by political interest" which saved the hospital, Dr. Boykin said.

They successfully combined with "a good hospital operation with a broad spectrum of services," he noted.

"Community interest and political support could not have successfully defended a poor hospital, but a good hospital could not have succeeded on its own without community action and political support."

Firemen Battle Blaze In Walthill Office Building

Lincoln Star Special

Walthill—Fire fighters from Walthill, Winnebago, and Rosalia battled a raging fire in the Walthill downtown business district Friday night.

The fire destroyed the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office and caused smoke damage to adjoining buildings housing the Sappingfield Grocery, Bronk's Cafe and the Ronald Samuelson law offices.

The Christmas eve blaze caused no injuries and local officials were still investigating possible causes Saturday morning.

No estimate of the damage was made.

Autopsy Set For Omahan In Accident

By United Press International

An autopsy is planned for an elderly Omahan who died Thursday night after a four-car accident.

Police said Israel Israelson, 82, was one of three persons injured.

If the death proves to have been caused by the accident, it would be Nebraska's first of the long Christmas weekend. The count started at 6 p.m. Thursday and runs until midnight Sunday.

Police said Israelson's car was struck from behind by a car driven by Gerald Waite, 38, of Omaha.

A charge of driving while intoxicated was brought against Waite.

The Israelson car in turn bumped a car ahead of it and that car wound up touching another car. Mrs. Israelson suffered leg injuries while a person in one of the other cars, Charles A. Thompson, 55, of Council Bluffs, Iowa, suffered neck and back injuries.

McCOOK BOYS ARE NAMED IN LANE BREAK-IN

McCook (P)—Juvenile petitions name two McCook youths in connection with a break-in at the Bowl-Mor Lanes early last Saturday.

Red Willow County Atty. J. D. Wood Jr. said the two are Roger Myers and Michael Maine.

Filings of the petitions was the first time the name of a third youth had been brought into the case.

The petitions accuse Myers of breaking into and entering the bowling alley and allege that Maine entered into a conspiracy with Myers and Lyle Newton to burglarize the establishment.

Newton, 16, of rural Indiana, was shot to death and Myers wounded by the bowling alley owner, Earl Johns. A coroner's jury exonerated Johns of any criminal intent.

Progress Cited At VA Hospital Here

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The director of Lincoln's Veterans Administration Hospital is "highly encouraged" by the pace of revitalization of the facility.

A number of staff vacancies have already been filled, and "hopefully" the hospital may be able to fill all permanent full-time positions by next July, Dr. J. Melvin Boykin said.

The hospital is still seeking another staff surgeon, an orthopedic surgeon, an additional doctor for medical service, residents in surgery and orthopedic surgery, and either an internist, psychiatrist or additional clinical psychologist, Dr. Boykin said.

Since Dec. 5, the hospital has recruited a chief of surgery and a resident in surgery, he noted.

The hospital will not be back to full capacity until the other vacant positions are filled, Dr. Boykin pointed out.

Still Two-Three Years

Even then, he said, in terms of medical experience, it will take two or three years before the hospital can return to its status prior to announcements that the facility would be closed.

The Veterans Administration announced last January that the Lincoln hospital would be scrapped, then revoked the order in June.

Patient load has now reached 148, Dr. Boykin said. It had declined to a low of 70. There were 209 patients at the hospital last Jan. 13.

The hospital has 200 beds, and 190 to 200 patients is "a reasonable census," the doctor noted.

170 Soon

Within the next two or three months, Dr. Boykin expects the patient load to hit about 170.

Twenty persons are now on the waiting list. Their treatment can be postponed until the hospital is fully staffed to meet their needs.

The hospital has been "able to build back very satisfactorily" in terms of nurses, nurses aides and other supporting personnel, Dr. Boykin said.

A major modernization program at the hospital—in terms of capital construction—should be completed within three years, Dr. Boykin estimated. Plans are still being drawn, but should be completed within six months.

Next month, work will begin on a $120,000 project to install new elevators, he said.

'Terrific Setback'

Admittedly, the closure announcement last January was "a terrific setback for this hospital," Dr. Boykin said.

"It's hard to rebuild a staff after a hospital has been threatened in this way. High caliber people are not easy to come by."

VA Administrator William Driver's visit to Lincoln last October and his assurances that the hospital would be a permanent facility, and that modernization would be accomplished, were "a great help," Dr. Boykin noted.

"Without that assurance, it would have been highly difficult to recruit."

Community Praised

It was "intense, constructive, businesslike, diplomatic community reaction supported by political interest" which saved the hospital, Dr. Boykin said.

They successfully combined with "a good hospital operation with a broad spectrum of services," he noted.

"Community interest and political support could not have successfully defended a poor hospital, but a good hospital could not have succeeded on its own without community action and political support."

Firemen Battle Blaze In Walthill Office Building

Lincoln Star Special

Walthill—Fire fighters from Walthill, Winnebago, and Rosalie battled a raging fire in the Walthill downtown business district Friday night.

The fire destroyed the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office and caused smoke damage to adjoining buildings housing the Sappingfield Grocery, Bronk's Cafe and the Ronald Samuelson law offices.

The Christmas eve blaze caused no injuries and local officials were still investigating possible causes Saturday morning.

No estimate of the damage was made.

Autopsy Set For Omahan In Accident

By United Press International

An autopsy is planned for an elderly Omahan who died Thursday night after a four-car accident.

Police said Israel Israelson, 82, was one of three persons injured.

If the death proves to have been caused by the accident, it would be Nebraska's first of the long Christmas week-end. The count started at 6 p.m. Thursday and runs until midnight Sunday.

Police said Israelson's car was struck from behind by a car driven by Gerald Waite, 38, of Omaha.

A charge of driving while intoxicated was brought against Waite.

The Israelson car in turn bumped a car ahead of it and that car wound up touching another car. Mrs. Israelson suffered leg injuries while a person in one of the other cars, Charles A. Thompson, 55, of Council Bluffs, Iowa, suffered neck and back injuries.

McCOOK BOYS ARE NAMED IN LANE BREAK-IN

McCook (P)—Juvenile petitions name two McCook youths in connection with a break-in at the Bowl-Mor Lanes early last Saturday.

Red Willow County Atty. J. D. Wood Jr. said the two are Roger Myers and Michael Maine.

Filings of the petitions was the first time the name of a third youth had been brought into the case.

The petitions accuse Myers of breaking into and entering the bowling alley and allege that Maine entered into a conspiracy with Myers and Lyle Newton to burglarize the establishment.

Newton, 16, of rural Indiana, was shot to death and Myers wounded by the bowling alley owner, Earl Johns. A coroner's jury exonerated Johns of any criminal intent.

Peace On Earth

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

While the world has not rid itself of violence, mankind still lives with the hope that the peace we contemplate today will sometime come within our grasp. Until it does, there still is room for the individual to seek and find a personal peace of his own. We are not shut off from the promise of Christmas simply because we have found no common acceptable ground for civilization.

All of us today will be bearing witness to the joys that are a part of life despite the many hardships that exist throughout the world. American homes this morning are full of excitement and good times. For some, the business of opening gifts takes place on Christmas Eve while others tend more toward the conventional time of Christmas morning. This is the day that bright-eyed children have waited for the past few weeks. For them it is the culmination of a fantasy they never will really forget, even though the time will come when they will no longer be such a part of it.

We often seem to be a nation of fault-finders, looking at much of what goes on with a jaundiced eye. We worry that we are spoiling the coming generation, that we are bringing up a generation of softies or young men and women without any ideals and principles. This is a concept of Christmas we have never subscribed to and one which we have felt does not exist.

With the gifts they receive, children are convinced of good in the world. Try to tell the six-year-old who has just lifted the lid on a brand new doll that the world is going to pot and she will have no part of the idea. Even if she could understand you, she would not believe you because she is convinced that life is a most rewarding experience.

It is out of such experiences as those that the spirit of hope is born and carried through the years. It is the hope and happiness of Christmas morning for the very young that some day will sustain them in times that are trying, just as it does for the rest of us today. What would be our idea of the future if, as children, we had not experienced the pleasure of dreams fulfilled? As people mature, their dreams change because their sense of values change but the pattern of seeing promise in the future had to be established from early training and experience. As we have found in some of the more unfortunate segments of our society, the child who learns too much hardship, who is deprived of too much, can easily develop an unhealthy attitude. From such experience can come frustrations and resentments that assert themselves later in the form of revolt against the norms of society.

Christmas Day was meant from its beginning to be a time of hope and happiness. It was a miracle wrought by God and the beginning of a sacrifice by Him for humanity that never has and never will know any equal. He gave His Son that men might be free from the entanglements of the world that threatened to destroy them. Our giving cannot even begin to approach this. We cannot give too much; we can only give with the wrong spirit and for the wrong reasons if we are to discredit the meaning of this day. Our giving ought to demonstrate our concern for others rather than any hoped-for rewards as a result of what we do. We were given the promise and joy of Christmas as a result of God's concern for all mankind.

While we tend to look critically at much of the world about us, it would seem that this concern for others is a matter of growing recognition among men. We have only in recent years come to understand the existence of many of the problems of humanity. We have come to know that there is much hardship and suffering in the world and while we have found no answer for it, we are attempting to find one.

In our own nation there is growing dissatisfaction with unemployment, educational failures, social and economic injustice and other marks of personal deprivation. We are becoming more and more concerned with the welfare of others, both for our own sake and the sake of others as human beings deserving of our attention and help.

Christmas is celebrated because it marked the beginning of new hope for mankind, new opportunity to life a life with meaning and purpose. There is no peace between all the nations of the world but there can be and is a quality of peace in the mind of the individual who lives in the true spirit of Christmas. He finds this peace to-day in the spirit of giving that takes place within the family and in the family associations that are so much a part of the day. He finds it is the friendly attitude he displays towards friends and neighbors and in the helping hand he might extend when the need presents itself to him.

Thus, while all of the world might not have found the Christmas promise of peace, the individual still can find it in the sphere of his own existence. It is a promise that is amply filled in the hearts of people throughout the world today.

True Peace Within

Hospital Modernization

Almost $2.5 billion has been spent under the Hill-Burton act to increase the patient capacity of American hospitals.

Now that medicare hospitalization will go into effect in 1966, the hospital modernization problem threatens to eclipse the Hill-Burton effort in demands.

It is mainly a metropolitan problem, for Hill-Burton spent 75 percent of its $2.5 billion in small communities and cities under 100 thousand population.

It is estimated that modernization of existing facilities will require $6 billion just to catch up on current needs. The coming decade will see that figure stretched to $10 billion.

Medicare did not pose the problem. It simply illuminated it. It has been there for some time. We just haven't been doing enough about it.

With the Viet Nam struggle and other expenses running high how can we meet this hospital burden? That is a good question. It will take a billion dollars a year for five or six years simply to cover the need existing now. The government does not appear to have this kind of money laying around.

It is possible that Congress will use some stretch-out method, possibly a combination of sharing some of the interest cost and guaranteeing loans from private sources, as is done in housing.

Such loans on 25 year mortgages could prevent crash financing and attract sufficient private capital into the field.

The more we look at ourselves the more things we find we should have done but didn't.

Medicine In Change

A little more than a week ago, the news included a feature story on a Milford man, Don Williams, who has started a Christmas tree farm. His farm is currently on an experimental business but he hopes it proves out to be something he can go into on a full time basis.

"I wanted to do it when I got out of the Navy," he said, "but I just kept putting it off." And if the venture never turns out as well as he hopes just the enjoyment of the project alone has made it worthwhile, said Williams. Its interesting and quite a challenge, he said.

We wonder how many men there are in this world who have wanted to do a certain thing but just never done it. Maybe they have dreamed of a chicken farm, a wood-craft shop, a retail store or wholesale marketing of an invention. Yet, they are no closer today to their dream than they were the first time it entered their mind.

Federal Tire Regulation?

From The New York Times

The tires on the car you drive may save your life or lose it if you are in an accident. With two long weekends coming up, and many people planning long trips on what may be rough or icy roads, the issue of tire quality—which is always significant—becomes of special importance. The nation's seventeen tire manufacturers, all of whom are members of the Rubber Manufacturers Association, have taken an encouraging forward step in strengthening the safety standards which they first set a year ago.

One problem has been that although automobile manufacturers make cars with increasingly powerful engines many tires are not safe if driven at consistently high speeds for several hours, nor durable enough if cars are heavily loaded or are driven over bad roads. The Association's new standards upgrade tires to meet all three of these contingencies. Whether these standards are strict enough is a technical question not easy for a layman to judge. Presumably they will be the subject of expert testimony when the Senate Commerce Committee renews hearings on the tire safety bill proposed by Senator Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin.

A continuing difficulty in the tire-safety controversy is the bewildering variety of names and grades of tires. About 150,000,000 replacement tires have been sold this past year under 1,000 different brand names—and each company has its own grading system. Another difficulty is that there is no way to prevent an automobile manufacturer from equipping some of his models with inadequate tires to trim the costs.

The tire manufacturers and automobile makers will both have to move further along the road toward clarification and uniformity of standards if they are to remove the need for Federal tire regulation.

Luke's Story Of Bethlehem Simple

BETHLEHEM—The greatest story ever told is a very simple one told in Luke in 100 words:

"And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem (because he was of the house and lineage of David) to be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child.

"And so it was, that, while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered.

"And she brought forth her first born son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn."

The above will stand out as one of the world's best jobs of reporting but, as I re-traced the steps of Joseph and Mary, I thought that today the story would have been handled differently.

There is a fine macadam road from Jerusalem to Bethlehem now and whereas Joseph and Mary made it on foot and donkey in about one day, we made it by car about 20 minutes. Bethlehem, then only important as the city of David is still a small, easy-going little town where Arabs lounge in the public square and women carry water on their heads from a public drinking fountain much as they did in day when Christ was born.

Below the one-time stable, the field where shepherds tended their flocks is eroded by the cultivation of the centuries, and so covered with rocks that no sheep can graze there anymore. And off on a hill is the tomb of Herod, who, searching for the Christ child as a rival to his throne, killed every baby in around Bethlehem.

In those days as in many primitive Near East homes today, the cattle were kept on the lower floor and people lived on floor above, thereby benefiting from the heat of the livestock. The lower floor of the inn at Bethlehem is actually a grotto dug into rock and Joseph and Mary entered through a long tunnel, going to the far end of the tunnel because it was warmer there.

This was where Jesus was born. A star, set in the rock and worn by the hands of millions who have touched it since, marks the spot 15 feet away across a passage where hay was brought in to feed the livestock. The manger was carved out of stone, not built of wood as most mangers are in America. Wood was too scarce even then as now.

Viet Nam Action Remains Unpopular With Many

HOMETOWN, U.S.A.—This dateline is deliberately chosen because to pinpoint the place from which this is written would put too many people on the spot—including several veterans of the fighting in Viet Nam.

What it boils down to is that there is a concerted drive on to convince the American people that they are really in favor of our actions in Viet Nam.

And no matter if a hundred Administration spokesmen say differently, nothing could be farther from the truth.

In a sense, the tactics now being used call to mind that grim joke which went the rounds after the report on the relationship between cigarette smoking and cancer was made public. According to the story, a leading Madison Avenue advertising firm had signs placed on all its executives' desks. They read: "Cancer is good for you."

A year and a half of covering this country from coast to coast, and constantly asking questions, leaves no doubt in my mind that the vast majority of Americans do not approve of our participation in the Viet Nam conflict.

Many of them, however, are being tricked into seeming to voice their approval. They are asked to sign resolutions saying that they support our fighting men in Viet Nam.

Well, of course, they support them. After all, they're over there fighting. But it doesn't necessarily follow that they support the policy that put them there.

The best proof that this is not a popular policy lies in the tactics now being used. If it were really popular, they would not be needed. Nevertheless:

(1)—All the big guns are being called out. The Secretary of Defense and the Secretary of State call special press conferences to try to convince the news media that our actions in Viet Nam are proper and popular.

(2)—The Washington hired hands of the various veterans' organizations have been called into the act. They have been told to get their people in line, and the word has gone out to the state and local level. Meetings are held and votes of support of the Viet Nam policy are cast. But when they are over, the majority of the veterans say, "What could I do? Sure, I support those guys, but that doesn't mean that I think they should be there."

(3)—A subtle campaign has been started on a nationwide basis, saying that it is unpatriotic to oppose the Viet Nam actions. This has closed many a mouth.

(4)—Even the television networks have been brought into the act, pressured into putting on programs to explain our position.

Would any of this be necessary if the majority of the American people approved our policy? Figure it out for yourself.

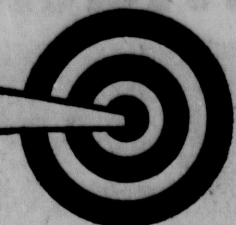

Four combat veterans of the Viet Nam fighting met the other night. After much conversation, one of them summed it up:

"I feel safer when I'm facing the Viet Cong. At least I know where the enemy is then. But I can't even have a cup of coffee in Saigon without wondering if somebody is going to throw a grenade under the table. Those people are not our friends. Don't kid yourself."

If you need any further proof as to how the American people really feel, check with your Senator or Congressman. If he knows you well enough to give you an honest answer, you'll find out. His mail has told him—the individual mail, that is.

ON TARGET

By DON WALTON

Ribbons and toy drums today.

THE DAY for the kids. And a great one for the postman too. And for retail clerks all over town—they'll be sitting for a change.

Big ole Tom Turkey begins the day, stuffed, but by the time it's over, he's the only creature in the house who isn't. Bicarb and soda please.

There's football on TV for the totally unreconstructed pigskin fanatic. Unhopeless cases have a choice of Civil War games.

But it's a tough day at Hallmark—a drastic reduction in sales volume begins immediately. Think of the poor guy who still has an inventory of Christmas trees. And today is death for the eggnog market.

Walton

Some would say that the glitter and glow has ruined Christmas, but we don't think so. How can you ruin Christmas?

Let there be glitter and glow, beauty and laughter. It doesn't mar the sanctity of this holy day.

For those who might doubt that Christmas has power, real power, you may look beyond the smiles of neighbors and strangers to Viet Nam. Christmas may bring a few precious hours of peace to Southeast Asia.

In many ways, that's what Christmas is all about—peace, not only on earth but in the heart. That was the promise of the first Christmas, and it is the promise of this one.

Peace for a few hours, or for a longer time? Guess that's up to us—and them.

In Vietnam, it's not much of a Christmas. Not much joy; not much peace. As Christmas 1965 comes and goes, we can all detect growing American concern about what war that may never end.

Perhaps we can forget it today, but after that, some hard decisions lie ahead. A Christmas truce, if there is one, is only a respite, a pause between storms.

Merry Christmas, soldier.

Perhaps the most vivid memories of past Christmases come from childhood.

That first drum with the crashing cymbals which must have delighted the neighbors. That first red wagon. A sled. A tricycle.

Snow piled up in huge mounds all about town. There seemed to be lots more snow then, or was it just because we were smaller?

Trying to sleep Christmas Eve. A hopeless task.

The dog parading through the discarded wrappings, and tearing them to bits.

There are kids all over town enjoying the same sights and sounds today. Merry Christmas, kids.

Moon Rocket Will Be Immense

NEW YORK—Proof positive that rendezvous in space is possible, even "easy," as Wally Schirra said, should come as a relief to the American taxpayer.

Tons of his money have been spent on the premise and the promise that one of these fine days we'd attend to the 10,001 details and put two manned objects together Out There. Project Apollo, the man-to-the-moon-and-back program, has advanced too far to stop. It has been costing $10,000,000 a day for several years and the price tag on it will be about $25,000,000,000 (billion) by the time we pull off that proposed 1-day initial visit to the big dead ball that has been doing things to poets and lovers since man walked on all fours.

Yet not until last week, when Schirra, Stafford, Borman and Lovell staged their tete-a-tete, 185 miles up and at speeds just beyond 17,500 m.p.h. could we be absolutely sure that Apollo could be pulled off. It depends entirely on mastery of rendezvous technique.

Apollo's "hardware" is hard to believe, its costs stupefying.

The Saturn V rockets which will be the launching vehicles will be assembled in a building that must be seen to be comprehended, and even then it isn't believable. It is a sophisticated box that stands 525 feet 10 inches tall. It could hold six football fields. The UN secretariat building could slide in and out of its doors. It is the tallest building south of the Washington Monument.

The assembled Saturns must be moved a few miles from this building to the launching pad. The 36-story tall rockets, each costing about $100,000,000, will make the little journey in upright position—without supporting wires!

This will be done by placing the Saturn aboard a crawler-transporter that looks like something the Green Giant would buy his kids for Christmas. It is a pad 131 feet long and 114 feet wide. Propulsion (at a maximum speed of one mile an hour) is supplied by four huge tank-like monsters mounted under each corner of the platform. Each of these crawlers has two separate treads. The crawler-transporter weighs 5,500,000 pounds, was built to carry a load weighing 12,000,000 pounds.

There is a slight grade running up from the assembly building to the pad from which our lunanauts will take off. The mover is equipped with computers that figure out exactly how much its platform's posture must be alerted to keep it level while climbing the gentle hill. If they don't work, the rocket falls over.

It would make a bang heard 'round the space world. Saturn V will stand 363 feet 8 inches with its spacecraft in place, weigh 7,249,000 pounds. Its five first stage engines will yield 7,500,000 pounds of thrust, burn 4,400,000 pounds of fuel in the little over two minutes of its life. Its second-stage has five somewhat smaller engines, which produce a total of 1,000,000 more pounds of thrust. They will burn for five minutes, mostly liquid hydrogen. The third stage has still another engine, with 200,000 p.p.s. of thrust.

The only commodity that can be classified as a bargain, in the space business, is the spaceman himself.

A footnote on Branch Rickey, as sent along to us by the late great baseball executive's young friend and associate Bill Goodrich:

"Remember Bill Delancey, the Gas House Gang catcher during the Rickey era? Bill's health failed him when he seemed to have years of baseball left in him, and he died long before his time. Well, after Delancey was gone, Rick-y found numerous excuses to pay a social call on the widow Delancey whenever he passed through Texas on a business trip. He'd drop by 'just to say hello,' and then in the midst of the chat suddenly 'remember' that Bill had some money coming from him, for unspecified services rendered in the past.

"Branch would just happen to have the check with him." Distributed, 1963, By King Post. Synd.

Xmas Sharing

Hastings, Neb. According to scriptures Jesus Christ came to earth to give mankind life more abundantly. That is the spirit of the Christmas story. "Throughout America and other areas of the world people become very much of one size, as even people of meager means share what they have with others who have less. Benevolent people who think of the poor at Christmas time do not flaunt their wealth in the eyes of the poor; rather, they share some of their great blessing with the more unfortunate.

And more stress is being put upon the aid to retarded people, children and adults, so they too may have a more abundant life that enables them to enjoy opportunities and privileges that in the past they did not have. America becomes a land of opportunity for the rewarded as! Christmas us a very appropriate time to give a lift to everyone.

Despite the fact that Christmas has been described as entirely too commercial, at this season we do not hear much about the rich getting richer and the poor getting poorer. That makes the atmosphere of the Christmas season more enjoyable.

Perhaps it is this spirit that prompts President Lyndon B. Johnson to stress the need of the "Great Society" which would cause many to make some sacrifice for the good of all.

Be Careful

Scotia, Neb. After snuffing out the lives of three and leaving one paralyzed, and children orphaned, Duane Pope is fighting for his own life.

The former governor certainly knows that the fact that Pope ordered the woman (the mother of the orphaned children) to open the safe and get more money did have the urge for money, not to kill at that particular instant.

If Pope's sentence is reduced to life imprisonment he might kill his prison companions unless he is placed in a very strong cell. Even if his friends found a way to get him free there might be more killings if he is possessed with the urge to kill, as Crosby says.

Easy To Spend

Lincoln, Neb. In looking over my Monday morning Star I see that the newly appointed State Administrator Service Director Willard Townsend was getting right into the act of spending the taxpayers' money, okayed by Governor Frank B. Morrison, of course.

By raising the travel and lodging rates for state employees, they should live real good on from $8 to $12 a day. It is real easy to spend the other man's money.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Most Elders Don't Want To Be Young Again

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. "I hear a lot of older people yakking about the past and saying they wish they could turn back the clock and be young again. But at 72, I'd hate to start all over. Do most elders want to go around again?"

A. No. Most elders reflect your thinking. They look back on their lives with a fair amount of satisfaction but wouldn't care to do a repeat. Many older people have compared it to getting home after a long, arduous cross-country trip by auto. You look back on the journey with considerable satisfaction, but wild horses couldn't get you to do it over again.

Q. "I was born in Ireland, came here as a young man, and have been dreaming ever since of retiring to the old country. I've finally reached 65 and can draw my social security regardless of where I live. But now I'm wondering if I really should move back. What do you think?"

A. Better go for a visit and see how you like it. Most foreign-born people who have lived in this country a few decades become so accustomed to our pace, products, luxuries and conveniences that the old country loses its appeal as a permanent residence.

Q. "After 40 years of marriage, I've discovered my wife can predict everything I'm going to say. I still can't figure what she's thinking, but I barely open my mouth and she snaps the words from my tongue. Does age given women psychic powers?"

A. No. Some people just grow adept at predicting their mate's reactions. Maybe you need to add more variety to your thoughts and try being a little less predictable. It's probably frustrating having your wife do all your talking. But take it philosophically, bearing in mind that it gives her pleasure and your larynx a rest.

Q. "At 71 I seem to get more and more disturbed about things like crime, labor hoodlums and the comics. I thought age was supposed to bring peace and tolerance, but my emotions get more ruffled today than they did 20 years ago. I can't pick up the paper without feeling my blood pressure rise. What's the matter with me anyway?"

A. You need to visit the newspaper archives at the library and look at the world situation a hundred years ago. You'll discover that society was in almost equal chaos then and that the world isn't really going to pot. When you discover that history seems to repeat itself with astonishing regularity you'll find it easier to take a calmer, more detached view of each day's calamities.

Q. "Haven't you heard you can't take it with you? I'm 65, so why should I work my brain overtime? I'm not going to be around much longer and I see no point in trying such new tricks as going back to school, taking up typewriting or learning Spanish."

A. Who says you haven't much longer? Actuarial tables give you another 15 years. And with the rapid advances taking place in medicine you may live another 40. When older people display enough incentive to tackle new skills they seem to tap new sources of strength and vitality.

NASON ON EDUCATION:

Practice Improves Handwriting

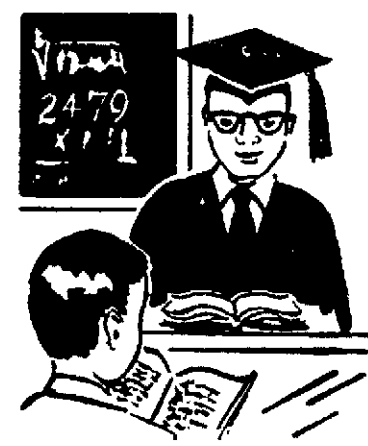

By DR. LESLIE J. NASON

Dear Dr. Nason: My fifth-grade son is not up to standard in his handwriting. He writes too slowly, as though he were drawing each letter laboriously.

When he was in first grade, his teacher said his writing would improve when he realized how important it was. His second grade teacher complained about it, so we had him practice at home a half hour per day. His third grade teacher said not to push him in class. It improved some. In fourth grade, he brought his grade up from "C" to "B," but here we are again with the same old complaint still not resolved.

I would appreciate any comments or advice you can give.

Mrs. R. S. D., Sacramento, Calif.

Answer: The theory that handwriting will improve automatically if a child is properly motivated does not work out in practice. Improvement of handwriting demands systematic practice, in which a different short sentence is written and re-written for eight to 10 minutes each day. During this repeated writing, the pupil must strive for improvement not only in the shape of his letters but in the manner in which he holds pen or pencil. He must train his hands to write with ease.

Dear Dr. Nason: I am a senior in high school. In college I hope to major in the field of aerospace engineering. Can you tell me where to get a list of colleges and universities that have particularly good aerospace engineering departments?

R. G. B. Kingsburg, Calif.

Answer: It will be two to four years before your college work can be specialized in the aerospace area, besides which the number of specializations within the aerospace division is large.

Since you are in California, make inquiry as to which University of California campuses specialize in graduate work in your field of interest. Students in other states interested in highly specialized training could well start their inquiries with their state university.

Dear Dr. Nason: I hear so much about school ratings — that this school is rated higher than that school. Does a rating list exist; if so, where may I get one?

C.T.J., Tarrytown, N.Y.

Answer: High schools are accredited by their state universities. There also are several accrediting organizations for colleges. However, there is to my knowledge no published list such as you desire which rates the schools or colleges against one another.

The counselor at your local high school should be able to help you locate colleges and universities which would meet your needs.

In the final analysis, it is not a matter of which school is best overall that counts, but which is best for you.

State High Court Orders Omaha Board To Reconsider Its Action In Ostler Case

The Nebraska Supreme Court Friday ordered the Omaha City Personnel Board to reconsider the 1964 suspension and demotion of former Omaha Police Chief C. Harold Ostler.

But the high court refused to order Ostler's reinstatement.

In ordering the City Personnel Board to reconsider Ostler's case, the Supreme Court affirmed the findings of Douglas County District Judge Robert L. Smith.

Judge Smith had held that Ostler had been demoted for violation of rules which did not apply to him, the personnel board failed to make written findings as required by the city's home rule charter and the punishment of both suspension and demotion was contrary to law.

Ostler had asked the Supreme Court to order his reinstatement as chief and payment of a chief's salary retroactive to March 10 of last year, the date of his suspension.

The Supreme Court ruled

that it was not in a position to rule on the sufficiency of the evidence against Ostler.

Ostler was suspended and demoted by then-Public Safety Director Chris Gugas, and the Personnel Board upheld the action.

Ostler appealed and won the favorable district court ruling, but Omaha resident Harry A. Meister carried the case to the Supreme Court after city officials decided not to appeal Judge Smith's ruling.

The Supreme Court noted that the Omaha Municipal Code calls for alternative punishments of reprimand, suspension, demotion or dismissal and that a punishment of both suspension and demotion is illegal.

It also found that the rules of the police division of the City Department of Public Safety, with which Ostler was charged with violating, are not applicable to the chief of police.

In addition, the Personnel Board clearly erred by not putting its finding in the Ostler case properly down in writing, said the high court.

Also dismissed was an argument by Meister that Judge Smith had no jurisdiction to reverse the Personnel Board because the transcript of prior proceedings filed in the district court was not duly authenticated.

Ostler is now a captain on the police force, the rank to which he was demoted by Gugas for insubordination. The demotion had followed a 15-day suspension.

In another ruling Friday the court:

— Reversed a Rock County District Court ruling in a dispute over an appraisal of improvements on a tract of state-owned school land in Rock County.

The district court dismissed the case on the grounds the appellants, Sam Jacobitz and others, had failed to file a proper appeal bond, but the high court ruled this was improper.

"Under the circumstances here, it was the duty of the court to permit amendment of the bond, or order the filing of a new bond in the furtherance of justice, and the failure to do so was prejudicial to the appellant," the Supreme Court said.

It ordered the district court to grant the appellants the right to correct their bond or file a new one and proceed with the appeal.

The appellants, in a dispute with Wilma Bussinger, were dissatisfied with an appraisal of the school land improvements.

Meet Star Carrier Patrick Spohn

Some of the profits from his Lincoln Star route were used for Christmas shopping, but Patrick Spohn saves most of it toward the day when he'll be able to start studying for a law career. The 12-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Claire J. Spohn of 1933 So. 34th delivers the Star in the area from South to Plymouth and from Bradfield to Colonial.

A sixth-grader at St. Teresa's Catholic School, Patrick lists physical education as his favorite subject and is a member of his school's basketball team. Playing on an organized baseball team during the summer and keeping busy with football during the winter take up much of his leisure time.

Patrick credits conscientious delivery and a positive attitude for the increase of customers on his route and feels that being a paperboy has taught him responsibility and business know-how.

Nebraskans To Attend Irrigation Meet

Denver, Colo. — All of Nebraska's irrigation districts are expected to be represented at the fifteenth annual meeting of the Four States Irrigation Council at Federal Center here, January 13-14.

The Nebraska delegation will be headed by Ted Johnson of Holdrege, council vice president. Host for the annual event is the Bureau of Reclamation.

The annual affair is designed to provide irrigation district management and personnel with the latest irrigation information, and it also serves as a vehicle whereby those attending can exchange information helpful to each other.

Nebraskans on the program includes State Game Commissioner M. O. Steen, who is scheduled to discuss recreation in connection with irrigation projects.

F. Duffy Murry, Bureau of Reclamation engineer at Grand Island, will talk about efficiency of irrigation distribution systems; Ted Johnson will discuss the selection and acquisition of irrigation district equipment; Rollin D. Schneider of the University of Nebraska will discuss operation and maintenance safety programs; and Robert Boecking of the Soil Conservation Service at Scottsbluff will speak on upgrading irrigation systems.

Wyoming Governor Clifford Hansen will speak at the annual headgate awards banquet. Past Nebraska winners of the award include the late C. Petrus Peterson of Lincoln.

George E. Johnson of Hastings, Harry Bashore of Mitchell, Val Kuska of Lincoln, Ralph Canaday of Hastings, A. L. Hoyt of Bayard, O. E. Daggett of Scottsbluff and James C. Adams of North Platte.

Subjects scheduled for consideration during the two day session will include weather modification, dam safety, use of chemicals on irrigation projects, controlling land and aquatic weeds, flood control, automation of irrigation systems and water economics.

dictable. It's probably frustrating having your wife do all your talking. But take it philosophically, bearing in mind that it gives her pleasure and your larynx a rest.
Q. "At 71 I seem to get more and more disturbed about things like crime, labor hoodlums and the commies. I thought age was supposed to bring peace and tolerance, but my emotions get more ruffled today than they did 20 years ago. I can't pick up the paper without feeling my blood pressure rise. What's the matter with me anyway?"
A. You need to visit the newspaper archives at the library and look at the world situation a hundred years ago. You'll discover that society was in almost equal chaos then and that the world isn't really going to pot. When you discover that history seems to repeat itself with astonishing regularity you'll find it easier to take a calmer, more detached view of each day's calamities.

Q. "Haven't you heard you can't take it with you? I'm 65, so why should I work my brain overtime? I'm not going to be around much longer and I see no point in trying such new tricks as going back to school, taking up typewriting or learning Spanish."
A. Who says you haven't much longer? Actuarial tables give you another 15 years. And with the rapid advances taking place in medicine you may live another 40. When older people display enough incentive to tackle new skills they seem to tap new sources of strength and vitality.

NASON ON EDUCATION:

Practice Improves Handwriting

By DR. LESLIE J. NASON
Dear Dr. Nason:
My fifth-grade son is not up to standard in his handwriting. He writes too slowly, as though he were drawing each letter laboriously.
When he was in first grade, his teacher said his writing would improve when he realized how important it was. His second grade teacher complained about it, so we had him practice at home a half hour per day. His third grade teacher said not to push him and she would work on him in class. It improved some. In fourth grade, he brought his grade up from "C" to "B," but here we are again with the same old complaint still not resolved.
I would appreciate any comments or advice you can give.
Mrs. R. S. D.,
Sacramento, Calif.

Answer:
The theory that handwriting will improve automatically if a child is properly motivated does not work out in practice. Improvement of handwriting demands systematic practice, in which a different short sentence is written and rewritten for eight to 10 minutes each day. During this repeated writing, the pupil must strive for improvement not only in the shape of his letters but in the manner in which he holds pen or pencil. He must train his hands to write with ease.

Dear Dr. Nason:
I am a senior in high school. In college I hope to major in the field of aerospace engineering. Can you tell me where to get a list of colleges and universities that have particularly good aerospace engineering departments?

R. G. B., Kingsburg, Calif.
Answer:
It will be two to four years before your college work can be specialized in the aerospace area, besides which the number of specializations within the aerospace division is large.
Since you are in California, make inquiry as to which University of California campuses specialize in graduate work in your field of interest. Students in other states interested in highly specialized training could well start their inquiries with their state university.
Dear Dr. Nason:
I hear so much about school ratings — that this school is rated higher than that school. Does a rating list exist; if so, where may I get one?
C.T.J., Tarrytown, N.Y.
Answer:
High schools are accredited by their state universities. There also are several accrediting organizations for colleges. However, there is no published list such as you desire which rates the schools or colleges against one another.
The counselor at your local high school should be able to help you locate colleges and universities which would meet your needs.
In the final analysis, it is not a matter of which school is best overall that counts, but which is best for you.

State High Court Orders Omaha Board To Reconsider Its Action In Ostler Case

The Nebraska Supreme Court Friday ordered the Omaha City Personnel Board to reconsider the 1964 suspension and demotion of former Omaha Police Chief C. Harold Ostler.
But the high court refused to order Ostler's reinstatement.
In ordering the City Personnel Board to reconsider Ostler's case, the Supreme Court affirmed the findings of Douglas County District Judge Robert L. Smith.
Judge Smith had held that Ostler had been demoted for violation of rules which did not apply to him, the personnel board failed to make written findings as required by the city's home rule charter and the punishment of both suspension and demotion was contrary to law.
Ostler had asked the Supreme Court to order his reinstatement as chief and payment of a chief's salary retroactive to March 10 of last year, the date of his suspension.
The Supreme Court ruled

that it was not in a position to rule on the sufficiency of the evidence against Ostler.
Ostler was suspended and demoted by then-Public Safety Director Chris Gugas, and the Personnel Board upheld the action.
Ostler appealed and won the favorable district court ruling, but Omaha resident Harry A. Meister carried the case to the Supreme Court after city officials decided not to appeal Judge Smith's ruling.
The Supreme Court noted that the Omaha Municipal Code calls for alternative punishments of reprimand, suspension, demotion or dismissal and that a punishment of both suspension and demotion is illegal.
It also found that the rules of the police division of the City Department of Public Safety, with which Ostler was charged with violating, are not applicable to the chief of police.
In addition, the Personnel Board clearly erred by not putting its finding in the Ostler case properly down in writing, said the high court.

Also dismissed was an argument by Meister that Judge Smith had no jurisdiction to reverse the Personnel Board because the transcript of prior proceedings filed in the district court was not duly authenticated.
Ostler is now a captain on the police force, the rank to which he was demoted by Gugas for insubordination. The demotion had followed a 15-day suspension.
In another ruling Friday the court:
— Reversed a Rock County District Court ruling in a dispute over an appraisal of improvements on a tract of state-owned school land in Rock County.
— The district court dismissed the case on the grounds the appellants, Sam Jacobitz and others, had failed to file a proper appeal bond, but the high court ruled this was improper.
— Under the circumstances here, it was the duty of the court to permit amendment of the bond, or order the filing of a new bond in the furtherance of justice, and the failure to do so was prejudicial to the appellant, the Supreme Court said.
— It ordered the district court to grant the appellants the right to correct their bond or file a new one and proceed with the appeal.
— The appellants, in a dispute with Wilma Bussinger, were dissatisfied with an appraisal of the school land improvements.

Meet Star Carrier Patrick Spohn

Some of the profits from his Lincoln Star route were used for Christmas shopping, but Patrick Spohn saves most of it toward the day when he'll be able to start studying for a law career. The 12-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Claire J. Spohn of 1933 So. 34th delivers the Star in the area from South to Plymouth and from Bradfield to Colonial.
A sixth-grader at St. Teresa's Catholic School, Patrick lists physical education as his favorite subject and is a member of his school's basketball team. Playing on an organized baseball team during the summer and keeping busy with football during the winter take up much of his leisure time.
Patrick credits conscientious delivery and a positive attitude for the increase of customers on his route and feels that being a paperboy has taught him responsibility and business know-how.

Nebraskans To Attend Irrigation Meet

Denver, Colo. — All of Nebraska's irrigation districts are expected to be represented at the fifteenth annual meeting of the Four States Irrigation Council at Federal Center here, January 13-14.
The Nebraska delegation will be headed by Ted Johnson of Holdrege, council vice president. Host for the annual event is the Bureau of Reclamation.
The annual affair is designed to provide irrigation district management and personnel with the latest irrigation information, and it also serves as a vehicle whereby those attending can exchange information helpful to each other.
Nebraskans on the program includes State Game Commissioner M. O. Steen, who is scheduled to discuss recreation in connection with irrigation projects.

F. Duffy Murry, Bureau of Reclamation engineer at Grand Island, will talk about efficiency of irrigation distribution systems; Ted Johnson will discuss the selection and acquisition of irrigation district equipment; Rollin D. Schneider of the University of Nebraska will discuss operation and maintenance safety programs; and Robert Boecking of the Soil Conservation Service at Scottsbluff will speak on upgrading irrigation systems.
Wyoming Governor Clifford Hansen will speak at the annual headgate awards banquet. Past Nebraska winners of the award include the late C. Petrus Peterson of Lincoln.

George E. Johnson of Hastings, Harry Bashore of Mitchell, Val Kuska of Lincoln, Ralph Canaday of Hastings, A. L. Hoyt of Bayard, O. E. Daggett of Scottsbluff and James C. Adams of North Platte.

Subjects scheduled for consideration during the two day session will include weather modification, dam safety, use of chemicals on irrigation projects, controlling land and aquatic weeds, flood control, automation of irrigation systems and water economics.

BALL

is gala tradition for young set

A gala holiday tradition which opens the festive social season for the Lincoln Country Club's young set is the annual Christmas Ball, which was held Thursday evening at the club.

Serving as official hosts and hostesses for the ball were sons and daughters of club members, who met for dinner preceding the evening of dancing.

Hosts and hostesses not included in the picture are Miss Mary Dean, Miss Diane Perkins, Fred Hoppe, Curt Kimball, Al Zeman and John Dudgeon.

Showers Honor Brides-Elect

A winter bride-elect who was honored recently is Miss Louise Deke of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Deke of Ohio, whose marriage to Robert Wulf will be solemnized Saturday evening, Jan. 8.

In courtesy to the soon-to-be bride, Mrs. Bill North was hostess at her home recently. A miscellaneous shower was presented to Miss Deke during the informal afternoon party.

The first of a series of Courtesies honoring January bride-to-be, Miss Sandra Sue Palmer, will be held next Wednesday evening when Mrs. Owen Beach, Mrs. Don Tangeman and Mrs. Arthur Brakhage will be hostesses at the home of Mrs. Beach.

Miss Palmer, who will become the bride of William Dennis Selby on Sunday, Jan. 30, will be presented a kitchen and bathroom shower.

Christmas in suburbia

The morn is come, a child is born.
The morn is come, a peace is given.
The morn is come, a world still lives.
The morn is come, thanks be to God.

HOLLYWOOD HEIGHTS

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ullsberger are Mrs. Ullsberger's aunt, Mrs. Angela Fasabinder of Salina, Kan., and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Neukirch of Tecumseh. The guests, who will be in Lincoln until next week, and their host and hostess began their Christmas celebration on Christmas Eve with the arrival of Mrs. Ullsberger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Biskup.

A Lincoln twosome, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Grapes, are houseguests of Mrs. Grapes's mother, Mrs. Walter Sharp of Omaha, this holiday season. The suburban residents will also be visiting with Mr. Grapes's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Clancy Croft. The travelers will return home Sunday.

SOUTH BROOK SUMMIT

The Curtis D. Sederburgs will be playing a motor version of hopscotch this holiday season. Today the family is in Nebraska City visiting with Mrs. Sederburg's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Campbell. On Sunday, they will exchange season's greetings with Mr. Sederburg's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Sederburg, in Essex, Iowa.

Then on Monday, the guests will again pack their bags to travel to Red Oak, Iowa, to be with Mr. Sederburg's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Sederburg. Tuesday, the voyagers will again set foot in the capital city.

A big roast turkey dinner is calling to many members of the Charles Vosta family today. The family is gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vosta's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bice. Guests are Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Lehr of Ashland, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lehr of Colon, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lehr.

EASTBOROUGH

Arriving on Christmas Eve were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wasserburger of Waterloo, to spend the holiday with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. LaVerne Stetson. The visitors, who will return home on Sunday, were greeted by their four grandchildren, Patricia, Duane, Ron and Helen.

Also busy entertaining guests are Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Neal. Their guests, all of whom arrived on the holiday eve, are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Neal and their daughters, Julie, Jane and Kathy, of Kansas City, Mo.; and, staying only for Christmas Eve, Father Donald Neal of Wahoo.

Today the hosts and their visitors are dinner guests at the home of Mrs. Neal's mother, Mrs. Alma Kolar, in Giltner.

Traveling to Miltonvale, Kan., Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Degenhardt and family left Christmas Eve. The Lincoln residents are visiting with Mrs. Degenhardt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Richard. The family will return mid-week.

Returning today after Christmas Eve in Omaha were Mr. and Mrs. T.E. Tompson. While in the city the Tompsons were the guests of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tompson.

BIRTHDAY

marks century of memories

A remarkable woman of great personal charm is Mrs. William S. Curry, member of a well-known pioneer Nebraska family, who marked her 100 birthday at an open house last Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Peery in Loveland, Colo.

The mother of Mrs. Floyd Bridges (LaVerna Curry) and Mrs. M. O. Phelps (Nell Curry) of Lincoln, Mrs. Curry is the author of two books—written at the ages of 75 and 99—based on her memories of her courageous pioneer family and of early day Nebraska, to which she came as a five year-old in 1870.

The daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Adolph d'Allemand she was born Dec. 20, 1865, in Kilkenny, Ireland, where her father, a native of France, was an instructor of languages at Kilkenny College.

The family, which eventually included 12 children of whom Mrs. Curry is the only surviving member, settled in Plattsmouth where her father served as superintendent of schools and taught at the Plattsmouth Academy.

In 1874, the family homesteaded near Arapahoe, which Mrs. Curry still calls home, and where her father served three terms as Furnas County superintendent of schools, and editor and publisher of the "Arapahoe Pioneer."

Mrs. Curry clearly remembers the family's trip to America and the terrible storm at sea in which the ship nearly foundered; the comfortable, 16-room home in Plattsmouth and the "new" home, a dirt-floored dugout on the prairie; the overland trip from Plattsmouth by covered wagon. She remembers the arrival a year later of her mother's rosewood, concert grand piano and how the boards from the packing case were made into a floor for the instrument.

She remembers prairie fires, buffalo hunters, traveling medicine shows, grasshopper plagues, the first burial in Arapahoe, the coming of the railroad, electricity, automobiles and, more recently, a plane flight over Lincoln.

Mrs. Curry sold her home in Arapahoe in 1935, to reside in Colorado with her daughter, but before leaving she entertained at an open house for the community's citizens, her friends and neighbors for 60 years. In a place of honor on the refreshment table was the engraved silver teapot, the farewell gift to her father by his pupils at Kilkenny College, and also in use that day was her mother's famous rosewood piano.

In her books, Mrs. Curry said, "When I visited our beautiful capitol in Lincoln, and read the inscription, 'To Our Pioneers Who Broke The Sod That Men To Come Might Live,' I cannot help but feel very proud," and, "Life can be beautiful growing old—I am glad I lived and had a part in the growth of the country."

Opening lead—ten of diamonds.

This hand occurred in the match between Iceland and Finland during the European Championships in 1963.

When Iceland held the South cards, the bidding went as shown. The club bid was artificial and showed a strong hand. The notrump response was forward-going and showed good values.

The bidding was natural from then on, and the Icelanders duly reached six notrump. If West had led a club, South would have gone down, but West made the more attractive lead of the ten of diamonds. South made twelve tricks after taking a spade finesse and giving up a spade, and Iceland scored 1,440 points.

The bidding at the second table, where Finland now held the North-South cards, was extraordinary. Here the bidding was opened by West—with a spade.

North, his normal opening bid having been stolen from him, passed. This was doubtful procedure, but anyway, he passed. East, unaware that his partner had bid a psychic, made the normal response of one notrump.

South had no option but to pass, and West, who could tell now that his vulnerable opponents had at least a game, also passed. North must have been tempted to bid at this point, but, not knowing what to do, he passed.

The contract went down five and Finland thus scored a plus of 250 points, but this left the team as a whole with a net deficit of 1,190 points on the deal.

Psychics seldom gain points against good opposition, and for this reason are seldom used in the best of company. North was clearly at fault in passing throughout, and paid a heavy penalty for his silence.

The principle involved is self-evident. If you have a good hand in bridge, you show it by bidding, not by passing. North should have asserted himself as soon as possible, instead of letting the opponents run with the ball.

Yule Party

Four small patients at the State Hospital were honored Tuesday afternoon when they were the special guests at a party given by a group of Camp Fire Girls and Blue Birds.

Also on hand was Santa Claus who presented gifts to the honorees purchased with funds raised through the recent Camp Fire cookie sale.

COURTESIES

Entertaining at a prenuptial courtesy on Thursday evening were Mr. and Mrs. David Sell, who honored their son, Dean, and his fiancée, Miss Sharon Miller, at a rehearsal dinner at the Hotel Lincoln.

The dinner guests included members of the family and bridal party for the wedding of Miss Miller and Mr. Sell, which will be an event of Sunday afternoon, Dec. 26.

Miss Miller has been the honoree at numerous courtesies in recent weeks preceding her wedding. Last Monday evening, she was presented a personal shower at a party for which Mrs. Neal Chism and Miss Barbara Bitterman were hostesses at the home of Mrs. Jerome C. Miller. Thirteen guests were invited for an informal evening.

In prenuptial courtesy to holiday bride-elect, Miss Gwer Waldo, and her fiancé, Kenneth L. Scheffel, whose marriage will be solemnized Monday evening at Westminster Presbyterian Church, Mr. Scheffel's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis G. Scheffel of Grand Island, will be host and hostess at dinner Sunday evening.

Members of the wedding party and family have been invited to the dinner, which will be held at the Hotel Lincoln.

a girl's best friend

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I read that when Princess Margaret visited Los Angeles, she wore a diamond clustered "rose" pin on her coat while touring the city in the DAYTIME!

I have read that it is not proper to wear diamonds or brilliants during the daytime, only in the evening. But I suppose anything goes with royalty.

MRS. W. IN L.A.

DEAR MRS. W.: don't believe everything you read (even in this column, I have been wrong), but of one thing I am certain: Diamonds are a girl's best friend, 24 hours a day. And they may be worn with propriety during the daytime, if they're properly set.

DEAR ABBY: Three years ago I married an extremely sharp, intelligent businesswoman. We get along very well and have yet to have our first argument. We are open books to each other except for a few pages. I have a good income and so has she, but right from the start I paid for everything and still do. We have a joint checking account. I put in and we both take out. I am not complaining, but to this day I haven't the faintest idea what she does with her income, which is considerable. And I refuse to ask her.

A few months ago I had some minor financial difficulty and needed a few hundred dollars. She knew this, but she looked out the window and played dumb. I had to borrow it from the bank. What is your opinion of where I stand?

DEAR NOT: Out in left field with egg on your face. Before you married this "sharp, intelligent businesswoman," all aspects of marriage, of which money is a very real part, should have been clearly spelled out. Unless you agreed that what's yours is hers and what's hers is hers, it's time you discussed it, since it seems to bug you. You may have your first argument, but at least you'll know where you stand.

marks century of memories

A remarkable woman of great personal charm is Mrs. William S. Curry, member of a well-known pioneer Nebraska family, who marked her 100 birthday at an open house last Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Peery in Loveland, Colo.

The mother of Mrs. Floyd Bridges (LaVerna Curry) and Mrs. M. O. Phelps (Nell Curry) of Lincoln, Mrs. Curry is the author of two books—written at the ages of 75 and 90—based on her memories of her courageous pioneer family and of early day Nebraska, to which she came as a five year-old in 1870.

The daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Adolph d'Allemand she was born Dec. 20, 1865, in Kilkenny, Ireland, where her father, a native of France, was an instructor of languages at Kilkenny College.

The family, which eventually included 12 children of whom Mrs. Curry is the only surviving member, settled in Plattsmouth where her father served as superintendent of schools and taught at the Plattsmouth Academy.

In 1874, the family homesteaded near Arapahoe, which Mrs. Curry still calls home, and where her father served three terms as Furness County superintendent of schools, and editor and publisher of the "Arapahoe Pioneer."

Mrs. Curry clearly remembers the family's trip to America and the terrible storm at sea in which the ship nearly foundered; the comfortable, 16-room home in Plattsmouth and the "new" home, a dirt-floored dugout on the prairie; the overland trip from Plattsmouth by covered wagon. She remembers the arrival a year later of her mother's rosewood, concert grand piano and how the boards from the packing case were made into a floor for the instrument.

She remembers prairie fires, buffalo hunters, traveling medicine shows, grasshopper plagues, the first burial in Arapahoe, the coming of the railroad, electricity, automobiles and, more recently, a plane flight over Lincoln.

Mrs. Curry sold her home in Arapahoe in 1935, to reside in Colorado with her daughter, but before leaving she entertained at an open house for the community's citizens, her friends and neighbors for 60 years. In a place of honor on the refreshment table was the engraved silver teapot, the farewell gift to her father by his pupils at Kilkenny College, and also in use that day was her mother's famous rosewood piano.

First Devaney-Bryant Meeting Could Be Hair-Raiser

Miami, Fla. (AP)—Bob Devaney and Paul (Bear) Bryant, two of the craftiest and most feared football coaches in the business, will face each other across a field for the first time at Miami New Year's Night.

The result of the meeting between Devaney's Nebraska and Bryant's Alabama teams in the Orange Bowl could be the most hair-raising of the post season grid battles.

Devaney steered the tough, pro-sized Cornhuskers to 10 straight victories, Nebraska's first unbeaten record in half a century, a third straight Big Eight championship, and third place in the national rankings.

Bryant, faced by a rebuilding job guided the Crimson Tide to an explosive finish, an 8-1 record, the Southeastern Conference title, and fourth place in the nation.

And it was perfectly logical that they would up coming together across half the continent for a showdown fight.

Devaney, with a career coaching record of 73 victories, 15 defeats and five ties, is the most successful of all active coaches. Bryant, with a record of 159-51-14, ranks fourth.

Both reached the peak of success in their present positions.

Since moving to Nebraska from Wyoming, Devaney has lost only five of 43 games and has taken every one of his Cornhusker teams to a bowl.

After compiling an 8-2 record in his first year at Nebraska, Devaney led the Huskers to the Gotham Bowl in New York and a cliff hanging 36-34 win over Miami.

The next two seasons, Nebraska compiled 9-1 marks, beat Auburn in the Orange Bowl and lost to Arkansas in the Cotton Bowl.

After coaching duty at Maryland, Kentucky and Texas A&M, Bryant has built a record of 68-12-6 at Alabama.

His teams were nationally ranked six out of seven years, won the national championship in 1961 and 1964, and won seven bowl bids.

Texas put a blot on Alabama's 1964 national title by edging the Tide 21-17 in the Orange Bowl, when Joe Namath showed up with torn knee ligaments and fell a yard short of the goal in a late attempt to drive the Tide to victory.

Nebraska brings the nation's most formidable rushing attack into the game with Alabama. The Huskers, led by Harry Wilson and Frank Solich, rushed for 2,900 yards, and they were second only to Tulsa in total offense.

Alabama's attack, directed by Steve Sloan, was carefully balanced. The Tide hit for 1,874 yards on the ground and 1,479 in the air.

The game will be televised by NBC, with the kickoff coming at 7 p.m. CST.

CARL GILMER... Bows blockers over.

COLT OFFENSE UNCERTAIN

—NITSCHKE TO START—

Packers Ready For Baltimore

Green Bay, Wis. (AP)—A relaxed, almost jovial, Coach Vince Lombardi put his Green Bay Packers through their final paces Friday and said the team will be at full strength for Sunday's National Football League Western Conference playoff game against the Baltimore Colts.

"At least I'm going to start the game that way," said Lombardi after announcing that middle linebacker Ray Nitschke will be fit for action against the Colts.

Nitschke, slowed by a pulled hamstring, had been the Packers' only doubtful starter. "I'll be ready," said Nitschke. "Were all going to be ready. We have to play a good game against them."

Nitschke worked out with the starting defensive unit as the Packers sloshed through drills in a snowstorm that made a whitish bog of their practice field.

The weather is expected to be cloudy Sunday with temperatures near freezing. No precipitation has been predicted.

LAMBEAU FIELD... Despite rain and wet snow in Green Bay, Lambeau Field is in good shape for Sunday's NFL Playoff. Stadium manager Wally Felt checks the field's condition.

Matte To Guide Baltimore Club

... AGAINST PACKERS

Baltimore, Md. (AP)—The unveiling of the Baltimore Colts' offense Sunday will be like unwrapping a Christmas package. No one knows what to expect. Probably not even the Colts.

The uncertainty is well-founded. The Colts, known for years for their passing attack, will be directed by a running back in the playoff against Green Bay for the National Football League's Western Conference title.

Quarterbacking the Colts will be Tom Matte, a converted halfback, who has completed one of seven pass attempts this year.

When he started his first game at quarterback in the NFL last Saturday, Matte threw two incomplete passes. But he ran for 99 yards as the Colts upset the Los Angeles Rams 20-17 and tied Green Bay for the conference lead.

With only a couple days to prepare for the Rams, after quarterback Gary Cuozzo followed John Unitas to the sidelines with an injury, Matte had time to absorb only a basic offense. He relied mainly on running off the rollout play.

Offensive tackle Bob Vogel, who didn't play while nursing an injured ankle, said, "I didn't recognize some of the plays."

In practice this week, Matte passed more from the protective pocket than from the rollout. He surprised observers with his accuracy.

"My timing is a lot better," Matte explained. "And my arm is stronger. Last week, my arm felt like it was dragging on the ground after not having thrown the ball much for years."

Matte was a college quarterback at Ohio State. But, playing for a team noted for its running, Matte tossed only 146 passes in three varsity seasons.

The Colts, from Coach Don Shula on down, have expressed confidence in Matte's ability to direct the team in the pressure game.

"Matte has poise," Shula said. "He's at his best under adverse conditions."

Baltimore held its last workout at Memorial Stadium Friday before departing for Green Bay, Wis.

Shula said he would not decide until game time whether Vogel and fullback Tony Lorick have recovered sufficiently from injuries to play. Vogel has a sprained ankle and Lorick a pulled thigh muscle.

Gilmer Doesn't Use Broomstick

... SWEEPS BLOCKERS ASIDE

Tuscaloosa, Ala. — They don't let Creed Gilmer take a broomstick on the field with him, albeit the opposition may disagree the way he sweeps blockers aside when they enter his domain.

At 178 pounds, Gilmer qualifies as a candidate for relief of some sort... broomstick, club, etc., but he seems to get the job done without additional props. Sometimes, it's even embarrassing for the opposition.

Consider, for instance, his performance against LSU. The Bayou Bengals sent blockers his way in droves on their vaunted power sweeps. A couple of those blockers probably only outweighed Gilmer some 30 or 40 pounds.

When they took the final count, Gilmer had penetrated the defense eight times for eight unassisted tackles, a truly outstanding performance. In addition, he was credited with stopping ball carriers short of the line of scrimmage five times.

They probably didn't consider erecting a statue of Gilmer in Tiger Stadium after his performance, but even if they had chances are it would have been misleading. One big enough for all to see just wouldn't do justice to diminutive Creed, since it would be entirely too large.

The secret of Gilmer's success, according to Bama staffers, is his ability to read plays before they happen. "I think he actually knows what is coming a lot of times before the play begins," noted and coach Duke Hennessey, who knows well what Gilmer went through each Saturday.

Hennessey was a defensive end for coach Bryant at Kentucky and lettered four years while weighing somewhere in the neighborhood of 160.

The obstacles posed by blockers are really nothing new to Gilmer. He faced even bigger ones five years ago when he was graduated from high school, a 160-pound fullback with no football scholarship.

But he was determined to make the grade as a college football player so he came on his own, won a scholarship, made All-SEC. Sort of a lean sweep, wouldn't you say?

Offense, Defense Drill

Pasadena, Calif. (AP)—A stiff 1½ hour of drill for both the offense and defense had the Michigan State football squad sweating Friday before the Spartans started a round of Christmas festivities.

"A pretty good workout," said Coach Duffy Daugherty. "We stuck mostly to a review of plays and conditioning."

Daugherty will start working on his game plans next week for the meeting with UCLA in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day.

The MSU players showed high spirits despite a 65-degree temperature, every now and then breaking into a spontaneous chant of "Work... work... work..." and a counterchant of "Hard... hard... hard..."

Sophomore fullback Bob Apisa from Hawaii, who has been bothered by a knee bruise, stepped up the pace of his running in practice.

Dr. James Feurig, team physician, said the knee is coming along well.

Feurig played a double role, donning a Santa Claus suit to pass out presents at the Christmas Eve party.

Among the families arriving from Michigan to spend the holidays with the Spartans were the parents of defensive back Jerry Jones of Grand Ledge, Mich., defensive tackle Don Weatherspoon of Vandalia, and linebacker Ron Govert of Ferndale.

Also due for the holidays was Bill Karpinski, coach of the Buchanan High School football team that went unbeaten this season, and brother of offensive guard John Karpinski.

TOP MALE ATHLETE

Sky To Be Filled With Footballs

... IN 27TH BLUE-GRAY CONTEST

Montgomery, Ala. (AP)—Randy Johnson, a small college passing standout, will duel Fred Custardo of the Big Ten Saturday in the 27th Blue-Gray football game today.

Johnson, Little All-America quarterback for Texas A&M, will run the Gray team which includes many of the top players in the South.

The 6-foot-4, 194-pound Texan, second draft choice of the Atlanta Falcons in the National Football League, beat out Memphis State's Billy Fletcher for the job during a week of practice.

Custardo, who quarterbacked Illinois last fall, has been tabbed to start for the Blue Northerners, with Wally Gabler of Michigan backing him up.

Both Gray Coach Bill Elias of Navy and Blue Coach Jack

Mollenkopf of Purdue, who lacked the time to install polished running attacks, have indicated they plan to call plenty of passes.

The South may have a running advantage, with Mississippi halfback Mike Dennis in the line-up.

The game will be televised nationally by CBS, starting at 3 p.m., CST.

Negroes will play for the first time in the game. Halfback Eugene Thomas and tackle Johnny Holmes, both of Florida A&M, are on the Gray team. End Jim Long of Purdue and tackle Bill Briggs of Iowa will perform for the North.

The South has won 15 of the previous battles, with the North taking 11 victories. However, Mollenkopf, head coach of the Blue team four times, has never lost.

The Purdue coach says his team may have trouble containing the speedy Gray runners, with Dennis and J. R. Wilburn of South Carolina considered the top threats.

"We don't have the speed that the South has," Mollenkopf says. "Our boys are big and strong, but we don't have the real fast boys like Dennis and Wilburn."

South Favored Slightly In Annual Shrine Clash

Miami, Fla. (AP)—Football teams from the North and South clash in the Shrine's 13th annual College All-Star game today and the Southern boys are a slight favorite with Tulsa's quarterback Bill Anderson passing to Howard Twilley and Texas' Tommy Nobis leading the defense.

Tradition gives the edge to the South, too, for this game has had a marvelous run of winning coaches who brought their own quarterbacks.

East QBs Go Through Pass Drill

Santa Clara, Calif. (AP)—Quarterbacks John Hankinson of Minnesota and Tom Hodges of Virginia went through a pass drill Friday as the East prepared for their meeting with the West on Dec. 31.

Bill Malinchak of Indiana was on the receiving end for many throws.

Tom Barrington of Ohio State served notice he's challenging Illinois' Jim Grabowski and Notre Dame's Bill Wolski for a starting backfield job by ripping off several long runs.

In a rain-plagued afternoon workout, head coach Ben Schwartzwalder worked his squad on defense with tackle Yearby of Michigan and linebackers Dwight Kelley of Ohio State and Fran Emanuel of Tennessee the standouts.

Dobb's Son Likes Baugh

Glenn Dobbs, Tulsa head coach, was an outstanding pro and one of the top passers in Missouri Valley Conference history. But his son, Glenn Dobbs III, chose Tulsa because his dad hired Sammy Baugh as an assistant.

Tulsa Wins Third

Tulsa won its third straight national major college passing championship in 1964, all under Coach Glenn Dobbs, and broke its own national mark with an average of 317.9 yards a game.

LAW NAMED AS WINNER OF AWARD

Pittsburgh (AP)—Pittsburgh Pirate pitcher Vernon Law was named winner Friday of the 1965 Dapper Dan Award as the sports figure who did the most to publicize Pittsburgh.

Law received 48 votes from local sports writers and sports casters. Pirate Manager Harry Walker was second with 19½ votes.

Law will be honored at a dinner Feb. 6.

Covington Receives Baseball Franchise

Covington, Va. (AP)—Covington received notice Friday it will get the Harlan, Ky. franchise in the six team Appalachian League.

Confirmation of the franchise transfer came from Neal Mahoney, Boston Red Sox minor league director, in a letter to Russell Ace Thomas, area baseball representative.

Chargers Without Lincoln For Championship Game

San Diego, Calif. (AP)—Coach Lou Saban of the Buffalo Bills voiced no regrets Friday over the loss of Keith Lincoln as a starter for the San Diego Chargers in Sunday's American Football League championship game.

"It's bound to make a difference because he is one of the Chargers' more experienced players," Saban said. "But we will just have to wait and see how much he plays."

Lincoln has been replaced in the starting line-up by rookie fullback Gene Foster, although Charger Coach Sid Gillman indicated that Lincoln may see some action.

The veteran fullback has not been in top shape since he hurt his knee in a game Dec. 12.

Ailing on the Bills' side is center Dave Behrman, who did not make the trip because of muscle spasms in his back. Right guard Al Bemiller is scheduled to take Behrman's place.

"I don't think Behrman's loss will have much of an effect on us," Saban said. "But again, we will just have to wait and see."

Saban views Buffalo's chances of victory as "very fine."

"But we never worry about the odds, we just play football," he added.

San Diego is favored to beat the defending champions by 6½ points.

Saban gave no hint as to what will be done about deactivating the injured Behrman and putting someone else on the squad.

The Chargers go into the game seeking to avenge their 20-7 loss to the Bills in last year's championship game.

In previous games this year, the Chargers defeated Buffalo 34-3 and tied at 50-20 and the season with a 9-2-3 record. The Bills are 10-3-1.

Gillman, whose team leads in all offense and defense categories, does not underrate the Bills.

Australia To Remain Davis Cup Champions

... SPANIARDS ARE 50-1 SHOT

Sydney, Australia (AP)—Boredom, irregular practices and a lack of depth make the Spanish team no more than a 50-1 shot to take the Davis Cup away from the Australians in the challenge round which starts on Monday.

It will be a major miracle if the Spaniards win, say the confident Australian critics.

Ken Rosewall, now a professional, has played with the invaders in several practice sessions and says Australia will win by four matches to one. Ted Schroeder, former United States cup player but a reporter here for the challenge round, forecasts the same result.

This lack of respect has nettled Kurt Nielsen, former Danish amateur star, who now is coach of the Spanish team.

"We have been ready every time we have been called upon, including the time at Barcelona when we routed the United States, and I see no reason for changing our training and practice routine at this late date," he snapped.

The Spaniards arrived on Nov. 24 and have worked out at the White City courts every day. They passed up all the various state tournaments and have done little, if any, serious practicing. Nielsen hasn't been able to oppose his players because of a sprained right ankle and so Rosewall was called in.

At other times, the visitors played among themselves or with club members. The monotony of this plan has begun to tell.

"I'm sick of this place. I'm tired of waiting. We have been here a long time. We are ready. Why can't we start playing today," asked Jose Luis Arilla after a 90-minute session on the White City center court that preceded a Christmas Eve dinner in a Sydney hotel.

Despite their unorthodox preparations for the challenge, some of the Spaniards appear at their peak.

UCLA Team Parties With Rose Royalty

Los Angeles (AP)—The UCLA football team had an appointment with royalty Friday.

But not before coach Tommy Prothro convened a grueling, 1½ hour workout. Prothro praised linebackers Dallas Grider, Jim Miller and Don Manning.

"They looked the best on pass defense that they have all season," the coach said. "They seem to be getting the feel of ranging around, something we've had trouble doing all year."

the court after the Spaniards left.

Santana is Manuel Santana, the 27-year-old star of the visitors and winner of the U.S. singles title at Forest Hills, N.Y., last September. He will play in both singles and doubles. Arilla may be his singles partner with Juan Gisbert joining Santana in doubles. Or it could be that Gisbert will play the No. 2 singles role with Arilla in doubles.

The draw will be made late Saturday. Roy Emerson and Fred Stolle are Hopman's expected choices in singles and he may go with the same pair in doubles. However, he may also switch to John Newcombe and Tony Roche in doubles now that the latter has recovered from an arm injury.

Two singles will be played Monday, the doubles Tuesday and the concluding two singles on Wednesday.

LSU Team Not Awed By Hogs

Dallas (AP)—Louisiana State pits its 7-3 record against Arkansas' perfect season in the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day, but LSU players figure they can hold off the Hog attack.

The Tigers' worst loss came from Alabama 31-7, and the players agree that Arkansas boasts traits similar to the Crimson Tide's.

"They have fine speed and attack real well off tackle and around end," admits defensive end Ernest Maggiore. "John Brittenum is a clever quarterback who also gives them a good passing game."

But Maggiore thinks the Tigers have built up enough momentum by now. LSU closed strong after the loss to Alabama.

"I think it will be a real tight game," says Maggiore, who starred in the 10-0 victory over Texas A&M with the game's only touchdown. The 215-pounder thinks LSU's defense will come up "with enough big plays to hold Arkansas down."

Arkansas' Brittenum will be the man to watch.

"He can move around and it's not as easy to put pressure on a roll-out passer. But if the end can contain him and the tackle can put pressure on him, then he's in trouble."

The Cotton Bowl classic brings up the point of statistics. The Razorbacks pushed over 324 points in 10 games, remaining undefeated and untied in 22 straight. LSU scored 251 points during its blemished season.

The renewal of the two schools' 64-year-old rivalry brings up another point: The game may decide an equally renewed recruiting war in North Louisiana, South Arkansas and East Texas.

"There was an agreement between Paul Dietzel and Frank Broyles," says LSU coach Charley McClendon, "that we wouldn't recruit in Arkansas and they wouldn't come into Louisiana. But that agreement was ended when I took over."

GUTHRIE SIGNS WITH PIRATES

Vancouver, B.C. (AP)—Eric Guthrie, 18, signs he has signed a baseball contract with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Guthrie, a junior football and high school pitcher, said Friday he got $500 cash and a $2,500 scholarship to attend college, probably the University of Arizona.

The 6-foot, 190-pound right-hander played with a Vancouver team in Connie Mack baseball in 1964 and 1965.

Venturi To Receive Ben Hogan Award

... AT NATIONAL GOLF DINNER

Chicago (AP)—Ken Venturi was named 1965 winner Friday of the Ben Hogan Trophy, awarded annually to the golfer who overcomes a physical handicap and continues active participation in the sport.

The 34-year-old native of San Francisco, the 1964 National Open champion, will receive the trophy at the National Golf Awards dinner of the Metropolitan Golf Writers Association in New York City Feb. 22. The selection was made after a poll by the Golf Writers Association of America.

The award is named for the Texas professional, who was critically injured in an automobile-bus collision in 1949, then returned to active participation in golf, winning three National Open titles, two Masters championships and the British Open.

Venturi won the 1964 title over the Congressional Country Club in Washington, D.C., after three frustrating years on golf's money trail. His income before those years had reached $50,000 annually, but in 1963 his total winnings were only $3,800.

He climaxed his 1964 comeback with victories in the American Golf Classic and in the Insurance City Open.

Later that year, Venturi's hands were stricken with a circulatory ailment, but he continued in competition, often in pain.

Last April, Venturi failed to make the 36-hole cut in the Masters Golf Tournament at Augusta, Ga., where twice previously he had been the runner-up. In May, he visited the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn., where he underwent treatment.

Came June and Venturi went to St. Louis to defend the Open crown he won in 1964. He shot 81-79-160 for the first two rounds and was eliminated from the two final rounds.

Later that month, Venturi underwent surgery to relieve pressure on the nerves in his hands. He played no golf until October when, as a member of the U.S. team in England, he helped defeat a British team in a four-ball match.

A big factor in Venturi's selection was his play in the National Golf Day match May 31 at Ligonier, Pa. As National Open champion, he played PGA titlist Bobby Nichols. Venturi led for 11 holes, despite the painful aching in his hands, and lost the match 74 to 73.

Holovak, who will be making his debut as Senior Bowl coach, will bring offensive line coach Art Spinney, defensive line coach Jesse Richardson and defensive backfield coach Charley Weber.

The coaches are expected to arrive in Mobile a day or two before the players, who will begin workouts Jan. 3.

Of the 54 players—27 on each team—13 were first round draft choices by professional teams and 36 were picked in the top five rounds by teams in the American and National Football Leagues.

Tennessee Alum

Georgia Tech football coach Bobby Dodd played his football at the University of Tennessee. Dodd, born Nov. 11, 1908 in Galax, Va., first played organized football at Kingsport, Tenn., High.

Christmas Party Breaks Football Practice Strain

... THEN BACK TO THE GRIND

Pasadena, Calif. (AP)—It was Christmas party time on the Rose Bowl football front Friday for Michigan State and host UCLA, but the hard knocking on the practice field isn't far away for the New Year's Day engagement.

Jovial Duffy Daugherty, Michigan State's coach, summed it up for himself and his opposite number, the Bruins' Tommy Prothro, when he said:

"After Christmas, we want perfect concentration for the game coming up."

Thus far neither team has gone all out in scrimmage. The lone casualty was a shoulder strain by third string quarterback John Mullen of the Big Ten representative.

As for UCLA, Prothro put it this way:

"Nothing serious has happened. One boy has a boil, another a touch of the flu and another got his feelings hurt."

Both squads were tendered Christmas parties Friday night. UCLA at the Student Union Building on its Westwood campus, the Spartans at their hotel base in Pasadena.

The rival coaches debated the advantages of a home team over the visitors.

Daugherty contended UCLA is not faced with such pleasant distractions as a day at Disneyland—"They've all been there"—and added that Prothro can call on a small army of freshmen and red shirt football players to help out in practice.

Not so with the Spartans, he said. He has a squad of 44, the limit which the Big Ten sets for its travel budget.

Prothro, adept as a lawyer in such arguments, commented:

"I'll admit the respite may benefit from the experience—which will help them next year."

Prothro said he'll probably suit up 46 players for the game.

"We've worked hard and the boys are in good shape," Prothro continued. "We're keeping the workouts shorter than during the regular season because they've been at it more than three months. But we're maintaining the fast tempo."

Christmas Brings Brief Sports Lull

New York (UPI)—The big town is like a ghost town on Christmas Day.

The commuters are gone, the shopping is ended, the trucks stop rolling, traffic is sparse.

In one apartment building just a Nicklaus tee shot from the United Nations, a Christmas tree will be glowing in one corner of the lobby and Chanukah candles in another.

Bob, the day doorman (he'll be a little glum because the Mets didn't get a hot pitcher for Christmas), will greet the early rising kids, including an assortment from Ireland, Hong Kong, Tibet, Arabia and Little African nations you never heard of. And he'll forget about the Mets when the inevitable parade of perky airline hostesses comes through the door heading for faraway places.

Ski Jumping Team Begins Tour Monday

Bayfield, Wis. (AP)—The United States ski jumping team will leave on a two week European tour Monday.

Selected for the team at the 10-day training camp at Mt. Valhalla were: Dave Norby of Madison, Wis., John Balfanz of Minneapolis, Minn., Dave Hicks of Duluth, Minn., and Randy Garretson of Denver, Colo.

The four, along with coaches Art Tokie, Al Merrill and Lloyd Severud, will compete in their first tournament Thursday at Oberstdorf, Germany. The tour, which will end Jan. 8, also will take them to Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany, and Innsbruck and Bischofshofen, Austria.

Norby, 23, is a former central division champion. Balfanz placed 10th in the 1964 Olympics and was a member of the 1965 national team. Hicks, 19, is the present United States champion. This will be Garretson's first appearance on a National team and his performance in camp was a major surprise to coaches.

Buster Brannon, who scouted Arkansas for Texas Christian University, says "this is the best Arkansas football team that ever played in the Southwest Conference."

Bruins Shuffle Lineup

Scranton Demands Youth's Return

Harrisburg, Pa. (UPI) — Gov. William W. Scranton, charging a "flagrant violation of Pennsylvania sovereignty," appealed personally Friday to Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace for the release of an 18-year-old Negro returned to the south by two bail bondsmen to face an assault charge.

Scranton raised the possibility of kidnapping in the case. "I have personally directed the Pennsylvania Department of Justice to reverse this outrageous disregard for legal procedure," he said.

The youth, Tyrone Collins of Norristown, Pa., was seized at his home Sunday night and taken to Mobile. In an interview in his jail cell, Collins said he was not threatened and the arresting men used no excessive force.

"I haven't got anything against them at all," Collins said. "They were very nice to me. Nobody threatened or harmed me."

Scranton, in a telegram to Wallace, said: "The public conscience is shocked by the alleged abduction at gunpoint of Tyrone Collins. This was a clear violation of his civil rights and a flagrant invasion of Pennsylvania sovereignty."

Asks Intervention
"I ask your personal intervention in seeking the release of Collins from Alabama and his return immediately to Pennsylvania. If there is a legal claim against him in Alabama it can then be exercised with full regard for due process and in accordance with the laws of Pennsylvania."

Scranton also telephoned Collins' mother, Mrs. Pauline Collins Sewell at Norristown, assuring her the state would do "everything possible" to see her son was returned.

Probe Ordered
Pennsylvania Atty. Gen. Walter E. Alessandrini ordered an investigation into the incident after hearing reports of Collins' "capture" from his mother.

"On the basis of facts as we know them now," Alessandrini said, "these bondsmen could possibly be guilty of breaking and entering, carrying concealed deadly weapons, aggravated assault and battery and conceivably even the crime of kidnapping."

Alessandrini said Pennsylvania recognizes bail bond jumping as a crime punishable by one year in prison or $500 fine. He said the state also recognizes it as a crime if committed in another state but that those seeking the return of such a suspect must follow Pennsylvania's extradition procedures.

LITTLE BOYS' LOGIC GOOD

Ortonville, Minn. (UPI) — Sgt. Warren Althaus, home on furlough from White Sands, N.M., noticed two small boys on top of their home Friday.

The youngsters had a broom.

When the Sergeant asked them what they were doing, the boys had a logical explanation. They were cleaning out the chimney for the arrival of Santa Claus.

De Gaulle Would Like To See LBJ

Paris (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle would welcome a meeting with President Johnson even though he believes it is not possible to reach agreement now on major differences between France and the United States, French officials said Friday.

Sources said Johnson had sent informal word to De Gaulle that he would be happy to meet with him if he visits Europe next spring.

The sources stressed that no formal invitation had been extended or received and the possibility of a Big Two summit meeting never has been discussed officially.

But De Gaulle was reported to have told Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., when the Senate majority leader called on him several weeks ago, that he would welcome a meeting with Johnson.

Johnson's own willingness, the sources said, was made known by him during a recent private lunch in Washington for France's new Ambassador Charles Lucet and his wife.

There had been persistent reports here that De Gaulle would like to meet with Johnson to discuss such critical issues as the Viet Nam war, West German nuclear armament, and the French president's demands for thorough revision of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization by 1969.

Previously, it has been assumed that relations between the United States and France were so much in the deep freeze and disagreements so sharp that a get-together would be pointless.

Officers Re-Elected

Omaha (UPI) — Trustees of the Joslyn Liberal Arts Society have re-elected all officers and trustees whose terms expire Dec. 31.

National Knights Mark Klan's 100th Birthday

Pulaski, Tenn. (UPI) — One hundred years after half a dozen Civil War veterans started the Ku Klux Klan as a Christmas Eve prank, one of its leaders and a few of its followers returned to its birthplace Friday.

The weather was balmy rather than cold night in 1865 when the Confederate veterans sat around Col. Thomas Martin's fireplace and dreamed up the Klan.

The official reception for James Venable of Stone Mountain, Ga., imperial wizard of the National Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, was cool.

Not "True Klan"
Pulaski city officials said they hoped he wouldn't come when Venable announced plans for a nine-state rally on the Klan's 100th birthday. And Raymond Anderson, grand dragon of the Tennessee Klavern of the United Klans of America, boycotted the rally and insisted Venable's group was not "the true Klan."

Venable, two men and a woman appeared at a newspaper office across the street from the Klan's birthplace—now a television repair shop. He said his Klan's principal activity now is recruiting members.

Mrs. Estell Foster of Macon, Ga., head of the women's branch of the National Knights, asked him to do a hood for the picture.

Refuses
"No, I won't do it," Venable said. "I don't want to create a disturbance here."

Venable and his followers handed out literature and visited the Klan's birthplace, and drove out of town. But not before criticizing the United Klans of America as "still wet behind the ears."

"They know nothing about the Klan," he said. "They've only been at it a few years."

'64 Soviet-Cuba Credit Agreement Goes Into Effect

Moscow (UPI) — A Soviet agreement to grant credits to Cuba during 1964 went into effect Friday, almost two years after it was signed, without an explanation of the delay.

The credit agreement was signed in Havana Jan. 11, 1964, to cover the difference between Soviet exports to Cuba and Cuban exports in exchange for the year 1964. Figures were not given in the original report of the signing or now.

Tass reportedly that instruments of ratification of the agreement were exchanged and said it did not know the reason for the delay. Other Soviet spokesmen were unavailable and the Cuban embassy in Moscow declined comment.

Scranton Demands Youth's Return

Harrisburg, Pa. (UPI) — Gov. William W. Scranton, charging a "flagrant violation of Pennsylvania sovereignty," appealed personally Friday to Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace for the release of an 18-year-old Negro returned to the south by two bail bondsmen to face an assault charge.

Scranton raised the possibility of kidnapping in the case. "I have personally directed the Pennsylvania Department of Justice to reverse this outrageous disregard for legal procedure," he said.

The youth, Tyrone Collins of Norristown, Pa., was seized at his home Sunday night and taken to Mobile. In an interview in his jail cell, Collins said he was not threatened and the arresting men used no excessive force.

"I haven't got anything against them at all," Collins said. "They were very nice to me. Nobody threatened or harmed me."

Scranton, in a telegram to Wallace, said:

"The public conscience is shocked by the alleged abduction at gunpoint of Tyrone Collins. This was a clear violation of his civil rights and a flagrant invasion of Pennsylvania sovereignty."

Asks Intervention

"I ask your personal intervention in seeking the release of Collins from Alabama and his return immediately to Pennsylvania. If there is a legal claim against him in Alabama it can then be exercised with full regard for due process and in accordance with the laws of Pennsylvania."

Scranton also telephoned Collins' mother, Mrs. Pauline Collins Sewell at Norristown, assuring her the state would do "everything possible" to see her son was returned.

Pennsylvania Atty. Gen. Walter E. Alessandro ordered an investigation into the incident after hearing reports of Collins' "capture" from his mother.

Tent-Pitchers' Plea Sent LBJ

Austin, Tex. (AP)—Four anti-poverty workers who were arrested after pitching a tent near the LBJ Ranch, said Friday they had been assured President Johnson had received their plea in a Syracuse, N.Y., controversy.

After being arrested by a state patrolman Thursday, they were admitted to the ranch where Jake Jacobsen, a presidential assistant, heard their complaint.

Stanley Gluck, 34, one of

Mexican Pleasantly Surprised

Mexicali, Mex. (AP)—"Wait," the American border guard told Mrs. Dominga Estrada de Rodriguez.

She halted, frightened, fearing she had broken some immigration rule, at the international crossing between her native Mexico and California's Calexico.

A crowd gathered.

"Congratulations," Mrs. de Rodriguez was told. "You are the 12-millionth person to pass this port of entry. We have gifts for you."

Earlier, Mrs. de Rodriguez said, she had informed her children, Theresa, 14, Gabriel, 13, Oscar, 11, Mario, 7 and Cruz, 6, that there wasn't enough money for much of a Christmas celebration in their tiny home in Mexicali.

She had crossed the border with what little money remained on Christmas Eve to do some shopping in Calexico. Gradually she realized that she had been stopped because of fortune which was good, not bad.

She sent for her children as a committee of Mexicali merchants presented her with gifts: a 21-pound turkey, a Christmas tree, an abundance of food, clothing, and toys.

It took a truck to carry it all to her one-room home.

New Post Office Bids Sought At Battle Creek

Battle Creek (UPI)—The Post Office Department is seeking bids to construct and lease a new post office here.

The builder will lease the structure to the Post Office Department for 10 years, with options to renew the lease for an additional 20 years.

Still Unhappy

While still unhappy over not being able to see Johnson personally either in Washington or at the ranch, the anti-poverty workers said they felt the White House played a big role in getting them out of Fredericks jail.

Richard Hewitt, 33, said bail of $200 each was first demanded but that this was reduced to $50 and they were allowed to sign each other's bonds. Secret Service agents then took them to the ranch.

The controversy is over an order of the Office of Economic Opportunity (OES) that anti-poverty financing come through a local community action program (Crusade for Opportunity) instead of Syracuse Community Development Association.

Objection

The four objected to the routing. They said they made no effort to go beyond highway barricades near the ranch and had been told by Secret Service agents they were on safe ground if they stayed where they were. Hewitt said Gluck was man-handled by the arresting patrolman.

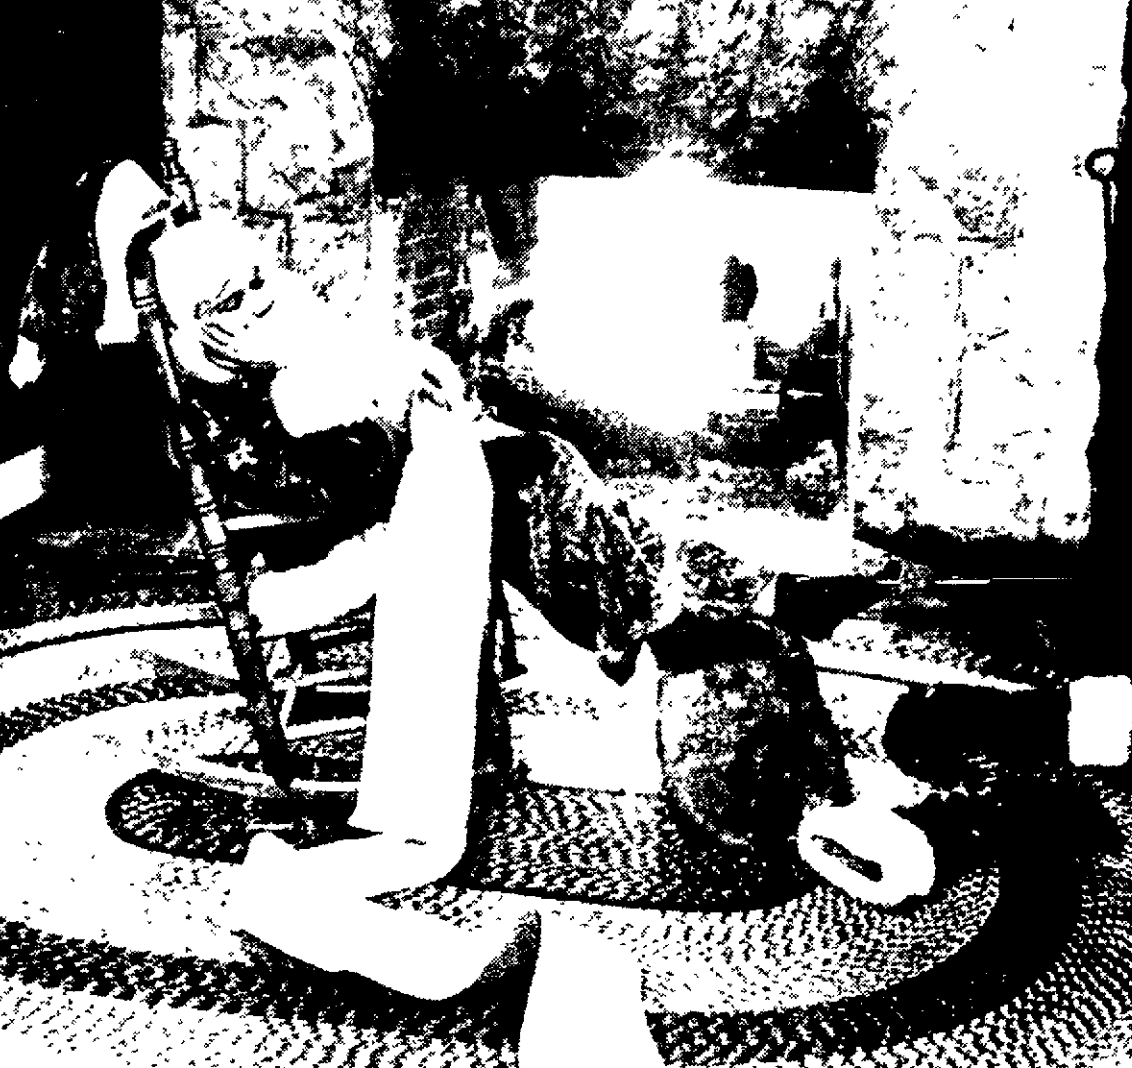

Also at the news conference were Charles Fain, 44, and Mrs. Catherine Nolan, who also were arrested.

Col. Homer Garrison, director of the Texas state police, said in a statement, "They were not mistreated in any way."

Man Hospitalized After Accident On Highway 26

Robert G. Griess, 29, of 4230 Greenwood, suffered scalp lacerations and broken left leg and wrist Friday morning when the car he was driving skidded out of control and hit a pole.

A spokesman at Bryan Memorial Hospital said his condition was satisfactory. The mishap occurred on Highway 6 between 20th and 27th as Griess's car crossed an icy bridge, according to police.

SANTA SNOOZES AFTER HARD WORK

Back home again after a few hundred million stops Friday night and Saturday morning, this well-known world traveler dozes off while rechecking his list to see that no child was forgotten. This picture of the weary Santa Claus was transmitted via Evansville, Ind.

Bodies Of Man, Wife Found

Omaha (AP)—The body of a woman was found under a Christmas tree in her South Omaha home by a man who shot twice with a shotgun. Deputies found four empty shells on the floor and shotgun holes in a couch and in a pillow.

Kenneth L. Patrick told police he went to the home of his brother, Ronald L. Patrick, 29, after Ronald was found dead in his parked car. Police said Ronald apparently had shot himself in the head with a shotgun Thursday night.

Two of the three Patrick children were asleep in adjoining bedrooms. The oldest child, aged 4, was staying with relatives.

Roger Patrick, another brother of Ronald, told Detective John Szalewsky he found Ronald's car parked, partially blocking a driveway. The car was running and the lights were on.

Roger drove to the South Omaha Police station to notify officers who returned and found the body. A second brother, Kenneth, learned of the shooting and went to Ronald's home where he found Izzetta Patrick, 26, lying face down on the floor.

Recluse, 72, Ousted From Tar Shack

Omaha (AP)—Andrew Hanke, 72-year-old recluse, was hospitalized Friday and authorities said he won't be able to return to the tarpaper-covered shack where he had lived with a huge horde of dynamite.

Discovery of the dynamite—eight cases of it—Thursday led to the hasty evacuation of the surrounding West Dodge Street industrial area until it was removed.

Hanke kept the explosives in a junk-filled two-story building where he lived at the rear of a large tract occupied by McCann Concrete Co. Four cases of dynamite were stacked a foot and one-half from the lighted oil stove. Hanke had lived there for the last ten years. Thursday health authorities tagged the dilapidated structure as unfit for human habitation.

After Air Force explosives experts removed the dynamite, Hanke was booked for

Gifts From The Sky

Grand Canyon, Ariz. (UPI)—Some 3,500 pounds of toys, candy, clothing and fruit was parachuted to Havasupai Indians living in the Grand Canyon.

Financial, Commodity Markets Were Closed

All major U.S. financial and commodity markets were closed Friday. Live-stock markets were open.

Pig Crop 10% Under Last Year

The 1965 Nebraska pig crop was estimated Friday at 10% below last year's crop by the state-federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

The division said 4,130,000 pigs were saved during the year, compared to 4,600,000 in 1964. This was down eight per cent from the five-year (1959-63) average.

The smaller crop was attributed to a decrease in sows farrowed in all quarters. Pigs saved per litter averaged 7.31, compared with 7.22 in 1964.

The number of sows farrowing in Nebraska from Sept. 1 through Nov. 30 was four per cent under the same period a year ago. During the period, 144,000 sows farrowed.

The division said that as of Dec. 1, farmers reported intentions to farrow 96,000 sows in December, January and February, an increase of five per cent from the same period last year but down one per cent from the five-year average.

Intentions to farrow in March, April and May were estimated at 233,000 sows, three per cent above the March-through-May total of this year.

Hogs and pigs on Nebraska farms Dec. 1 were estimated at 2,724,000 head, seven per cent below a year ago.

Hog Prices Steady, Up

Omaha (AP)—Butcher hogs ranged steady to 50c, mostly 25 to 50c higher. There were not enough fed steers, heifers or sheep to make a market test.

Tent-Pitchers' Plea Sent LBJ

Austin, Tex. (AP)—Four anti-poverty workers who were arrested after pitching a tent near the LBJ Ranch, said Friday they had been assured President Johnson had received their plea in a Syracuse, N.Y., controversy.

After being arrested by a state patrolman Thursday, they were admitted to the ranch where Jake Jacobsen, a presidential assistant, heard their complaint.

Stanley Gluck, 34, one of those arrested, told a news conference that Lt. Col. James U. Cross, White House armed forces aide, had telephoned him to say Jacobsen had explained their grievance to the President. According to Gluck, Cross said Johnson needed more information about the controversy.

Still Unhappy

While still unhappy over not being able to see Johnson personally either in Washington or at the ranch, the anti-poverty workers said they felt the White House played a big role in getting them out of Fredericks jail.

Richard Hewitt, 33, said bail of $200 each was first demanded but that this was reduced to $50 and they were allowed to sign each other's bonds. Secret Service agents then took them to the ranch.

The controversy is over an order of the Office of Economic Opportunity (OES) that anti-poverty financing come through a local community action program (Crusade for Opportunity) instead of Syracuse Community Development Association.

Objection

The four objected to the routing. They said they made no effort to go beyond highway barricades near the ranch and had been told by Secret Service agents they were on safe ground if they stayed where they were. Hewitt said Gluck was man-handled by the arresting patrolman.

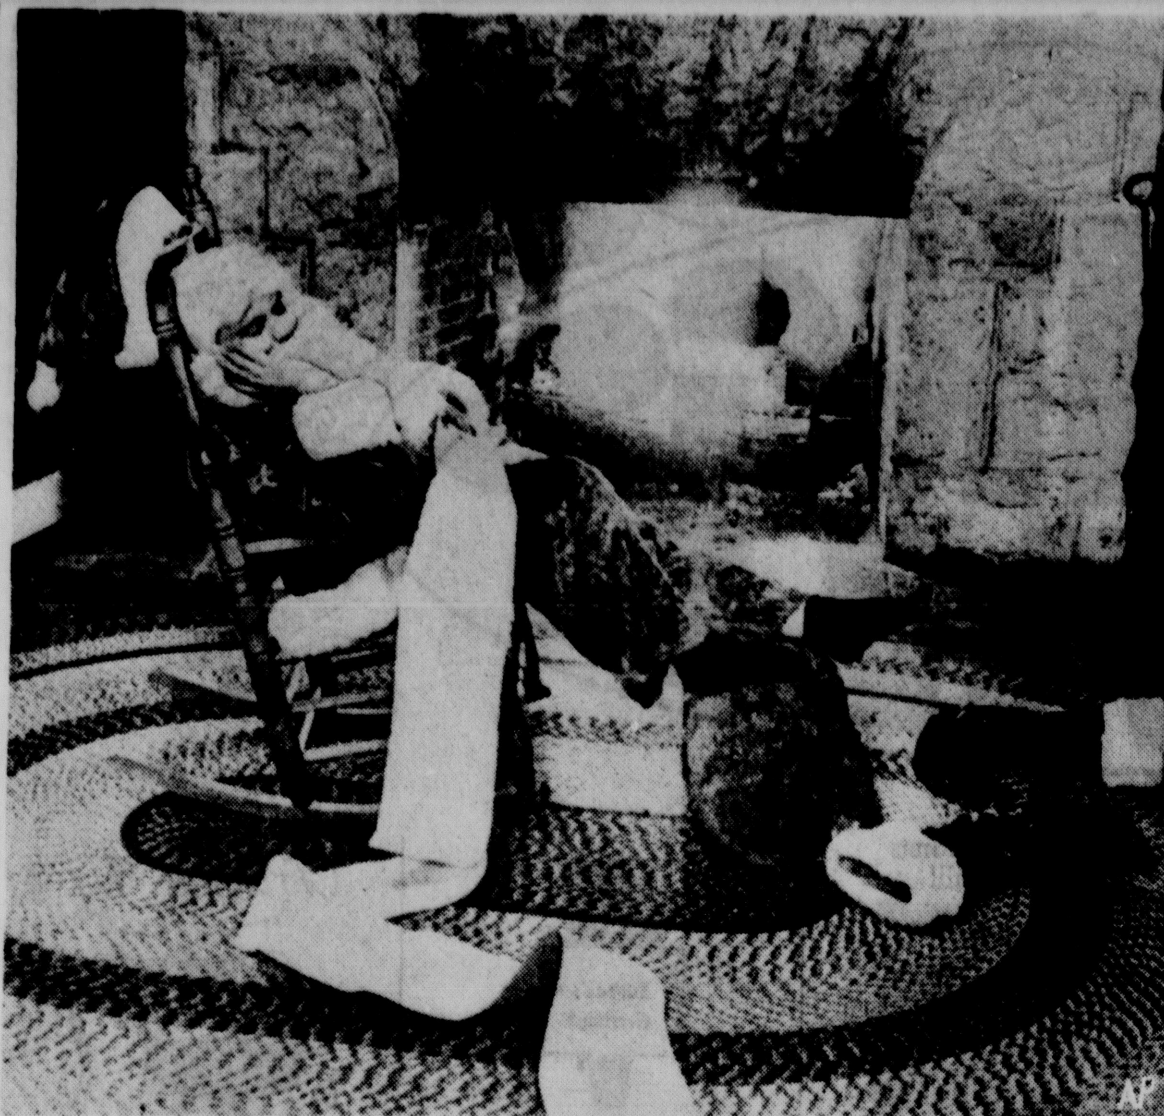

Also at the news conference were Charles Fain, 44, and Mrs. Catherine Nolan, who also were arrested.

Col. Homer Garrison, director of the Texas state police, said in a statement, "They were not mistreated in any way."

Man Hospitalized After Accident On Highway 6

Robert G. Griess, 29, of 4230 Greenwood, suffered scalp lacerations and broken left leg and wrist Friday morning when the car he was driving skidded out of control and hit a pole.

A spokesman at Bryan Memorial Hospital said his condition was satisfactory. The mishap occurred on Highway 6 between 20th and 27th as Griess's car crossed an icy bridge, according to police.

Bodies Of Man, Wife Found

Omaha (AP)—The body of a woman was found under a Christmas tree in her South Omaha home by a man who had gone there to notify her of the death of her husband.

Kenneth L. Patrick told police he went to the home of his brother, Ronald L. Patrick, 29, after Ronald was found dead in his parked car. Police said Ronald apparently had shot himself in the head with a shotgun Thursday night.

Kenneth said he got no answer, entered and found the body. The woman had been shot twice with a shotgun. Detectives found four empty shells on the floor and shotgun holes in a couch and in a pillow.

Two of the three Patrick children were asleep in adjoining bedrooms. The oldest child, aged 4, was staying with relatives.

Roger Patrick, another brother of Ronald, told Detective John Szalewsky he found Ronald's car parked, partially blocking a driveway. The car was running and the lights were on.

Roger drove to the South Omaha Police station to notify officers who returned and found the body. A second brother, Kenneth, learned of the shooting, and went to Ronald's home where he found Izzetta Patrick, 26, lying face down on the floor.

Recluse, 72, Ousted From Tar Shack

Omaha (AP)—Andrew Hanke, 72-year-old recluse, was hospitalized Friday and authorities said he won't be able to return to the tarpaper-covered shack where he had lived with a huge horde of dynamite.

Discovery of the dynamite—eight cases of it—Thursday led to the hasty evacuation of the surrounding West Dodge Street industrial area until it was removed.

Hanke kept the explosives in a junk-filled two-story building where he lived at the rear of a large tract occupied by McCann Concrete Co. Four cases of dynamite were stacked a foot and one-half from the lighted oil stove. Hanke had lived there for the last ten years. Thursday health authorities tagged the dilapidated structure as unfit for human habitation.

Discovery of the explosives came after Hanke had a run-in with McCann employees. After Air Force explosives experts removed the dynamite, Hanke was booked for Hanke himself was hospitalized for treatment and observation of a diabetic condition.

London's Crime Wave Continues

London (AP)—Britain's crime wave showed no sign of abating Friday as Christmas neared.

Burglars made off with 30,000 pounds ($84,000) in jewelry from the home of John Gold, a businessman, in the London suburb of Mill Hill.

In the past two months, payroll robberies and jewel burglaries have netted London gangs about 1.3 million pounds ($3.64 million), causing grave misgivings among the people and government as to the adequacy of police methods.

Financial, Commodity Markets Were Closed

All major U.S. financial and commodity markets were closed Friday. Live-stock markets were open.

Pig Crop 10% Under Last Year

The 1965 Nebraska pig crop was estimated Friday at 10% below last year's crop by the state-federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

The division said 4,130,000 pigs were saved during the year, compared to 4,600,000 in 1964. This was down eight per cent from the five-year (1959-63) average.

The smaller crop was attributed to a decrease in sows farrowed in all quarters. Pigs saved per litter averaged 7.31, compared with 7.22 in 1964.

The number of sows farrowing in Nebraska from Sept. 1 through Nov. 30 was four per cent under the same period a year ago. During the period, 144,000 sows farrowed.

The division said that as of Dec. 1, farmers reported intentions to farrow 96,000 sows in December, January and February, an increase of five per cent from the same period last year but down one per cent from the five-year average.

Intentions to farrow in March, April and May were estimated at 233,000 sows, three per cent above the March-through-May total of this year.

Wheat Crop Estimated To Exceed 1964

The State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics Friday estimated the 1966 winter wheat crop at 79.9 million bushels, an increase of 24 million bushels from this year's crop.

The 1966 harvest will come on the smallest acreage since the 1962 crop, with fields seeded to winter wheat this fall totaling 3,196,000 acres, the division said.

The division said extremely favorable soil moisture conditions, the best ever recorded, offset a delayed planting of the crop forced by September rains and early damage to the crop which required some replanting.

The division said germination of the seed was excellent and good stands and root growth were obtained.

The division said the crop will enter the dormant stage in excellent condition, although local areas show some nitrogen deficiencies. Wheat in the Panhandle and much of the Southwest developed well and vegetative cover now offers protection from wind erosion.

Red Oak Leaders Stopped In Plan To Raze Buildings

Red Oak, Iowa (UPI)—Red Oak city officials were enjoined from proceeding with a plan to tear down two downtown buildings and put in an off-street parking area.

District Judge LeRoy H. Johnson issued the injunction at the request of Jonathan B. Richards, a Red Oak attorney and member of the Iowa board of regents.

Johnson granted Richards' request because the city had admitted 14 of 18 allegations contained in the suit brought against the city council, Mayor J. D. Tiffin and City Clerk Robert R. Moore, and because the council had not held a public hearing on the proposed project.

Richards owns a building adjoining the two that would have been razed, and has his offices in the building he owns.

Indian Land Sale At Richardson Co.

Falls City (UPI)—Three tracts of Indian land lying on the Missouri River bottomland in Richardson County will be sold by the Horton Indian Agency, according to Buford Morrison of Horton, area field representative of the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

There are 359 acres in the three tracts. Sealed bids will be received and opened Jan. 12.

The three tracts are part of the estate of the late Betsy Story, an Iowa Indian who died Dec. 3, 1960.

Hog Prices Steady, Up

Omaha (AP)—Butcher hogs ranged steady to 50c, mostly 25 to 50c higher. There were not enough fed steers, heifers or sheep to make a market test.

Alliance Boy Held For Shooting Spree

Alliance (UPI)—Law enforcement officers used tear gas Thursday evening to force a 19-year-old Alliance youth from the bathroom in his home after he shot several times at a police patrolman and reportedly threatened to shoot his parents and another couple and their infant child.

Arrested was David L. Cotes, who was charged in Box Butte County court Friday with assault with intent to kill, wound or maim, and with interfering with a law officer's duty.

Bond for the youth, who was locked up in the county jail, was set at $3,000. During his court appearance Friday Cotes asked for a court-appointed attorney.

Threatened Parents Police patrolman Alvie Wilkins answered a call Thursday evening saying Cotes was threatening to shoot his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Cotes. Wilkins said when he approached Cotes to apprehend him, the youth fired at him with a 22-caliber rifle.

Wilkins ducked behind a tree and heard another shot fired. Then, Wilkins said, Cotes took off running alongside a picket fence and fired at him three or four more times. None of the shots hit the officer.

During the chase, officer Wilkins said, Cotes broke

MIDWESTERNER HELPS FEED VIETNAMESE

Capt. Jim Nicholson of Struble, Iowa, helps distribute food to Vietnamese at Hau Bon. In an open letter to Midwest children Nicholson asked two favors: be thankful to be able to grow up "in the richest, most freedom-loving country on earth" and on Christmas day "whisper a little prayer for the children of Viet Nam, asking that soon their seasons of Christmas may be more like yours."

Embassy here contributed to the relief effort. South American Placers, a U.S. mining company, has properties in the area. Property damage came to about $300,000, but damage to the Placer property has not been estimated.

Proposed Flood Control For Norfolk Is Analyzed

Norfolk (UPI) — A total flood control program for the city of Norfolk was analyzed at a meeting of city and county representatives with Soil Conservation Service officials.

SCS representatives discussed cost estimates and feasibility of the Corporation Gulch Flood Control-Recreation Project northwest of the city, which the city has considered in conjunction with flood control work on the Northfork River running north and east of the city.

Mayor Ed Vrzal described combination of the two projects as "a total flood control program for all of Norfolk."

The major flood control project, that along the northfork River, has been estimated at a total cost of $3.5 million to be shared by federal, state, county and city governments.

SCS representatives said the Corporation Gulch project would cost an estimated $450,000. Of that total the cost to the city of Norfolk would be from $75,000 to $100,000. The remaining cost would be covered by state and federal funds.

The Gulch project would provide flood and erosion control and recreational benefits to the area. As proposed, the project would include a 75-acre lake and 75-acre park.

SCS representative Darrel Davis said the benefit-cost

State's Traffic Total Up 6% In November

The State Roads Department Friday reported November traffic at 22 check points on rural Nebraska roads increased 6% over the November, 1964, volume.

The major increases came on state Highway 9 north of West Point, where volume jumped 43%, on the county road north of Chappell, up 27%, and on the county road east of Pickrell, up 17%.

The check point on the interstate highway at the Douglas-Sperry county line registered a 10% increase.

Large volume decreases came on U.S. Highway 34 at the Nebraska-Colorado line, a 12% drop, and on U.S. 73-75 south of Union, a 10% drop.

The November volume showed a normal seasonal decrease of 10% from volume of the previous month, the department said.

Two Swept Off Train

Johannesburg, South Africa — Two Africans clinging to the outside of a commuter train crowded with Christmas shoppers perished when they were swept off as the train passed under a bridge.

Prince OK's TV Documentary On Rasputin Murder

London (UPI)—Russian Prince Felix Youssoufoff has granted permission to produce a television documentary drama of the day in 1916 when he killed the mad monk Rasputin.

The British Broadcasting Corp. announced Friday it will present the drama of the murder in Youssoufoff's palace in Leningrad. It will be shown early next year.

The 79-year-old prince lost a suit for $1.5 million he filed against the Columbia Broadcasting System last month in New York. He claimed a CBS dramatization of Rasputin's death invaded his privacy.

Paradoxes Fill 1965's Christmas

By The Associated Press
It is a Christmas of paradoxes.

There is the noise of family reunions, of children squealing over gifts, of church bells ringing out from Bethlehem and from the cities and hamlets where Christians mark the birth of their Savior.

And it is a joyous Christmas of temporary silence across the paddies and jungles of Viet Nam, a Christmas that could be marked briefly by the GI's "Merry Christmas" to his partners in war and the murmur of men attacking turkey dinner.

There was much to be thankful for as Americans gathered about their trees to unwrap the tokens of a prosperous year, but there were deep thoughts of concern among families with sons and husbands they feared they might not see again.

In Cold Korea
Far away, on the cold and barren hills of Korea, U.S. and South Korean troops observed Christmas while guarding the demilitarized zone against infiltration from the communist North.

There were other trouble spots. India and Pakistan armies confronted each other across a cease-fire line that has been violated repeatedly by both sides. North of India, Communist China loomed menacingly.

On the border of Iran and Iraq, Iran reinforced its air strength after a series of border clashes.

But the joy of Christmas broke through on two fronts of conflict—the Holy Land and Berlin.

Holy City Gate Open
While Israel and Jordan are technically at war, Jordan opened the Jerusalem gate to about 5,000 Christians from Israel who joined 15,000 pilgrims from around the world in Bethlehem to celebrate the birth of Jesus, the Prince of Peace.

Though the ugly Red wall of concrete and barbed wire that spreads like a scar across Berlin streamed 20,000 West Berliners for Christmas reunions with relatives in the communist East. The West Berliners were issued passes by East German officials.

In the rest of West Germany, many families placed candles in windows for relatives in East Germany prevented from attending reunions in the West.

There was little rest for the British in Africa, where African nations are pressing them to use force to end the independence proclaimed by the white rulers of Rhodesia.

Dominicans Shut In
In the Western Hemisphere, most people in the Dominican Republic are spending Christmas Day indoors—the motive is fear. Rebel partisans and the military in the past week have been shooting it out.

Like most Americans, President Johnson is spending Christmas Day with his family. He was back home at his ranch on the banks of the Pedernales River in Texas.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara thanked Americans for donating 470 tons of gifts to U.S. soldiers in Viet Nam. These gifts were in addition to those the soldiers received from relatives and friends.

Giving, Getting
But the soldiers in Viet Nam were giving as well as receiving. Throughout South Viet Nam, U.S. servicemen threw Christmas parties around their encampments for Vietnamese children.

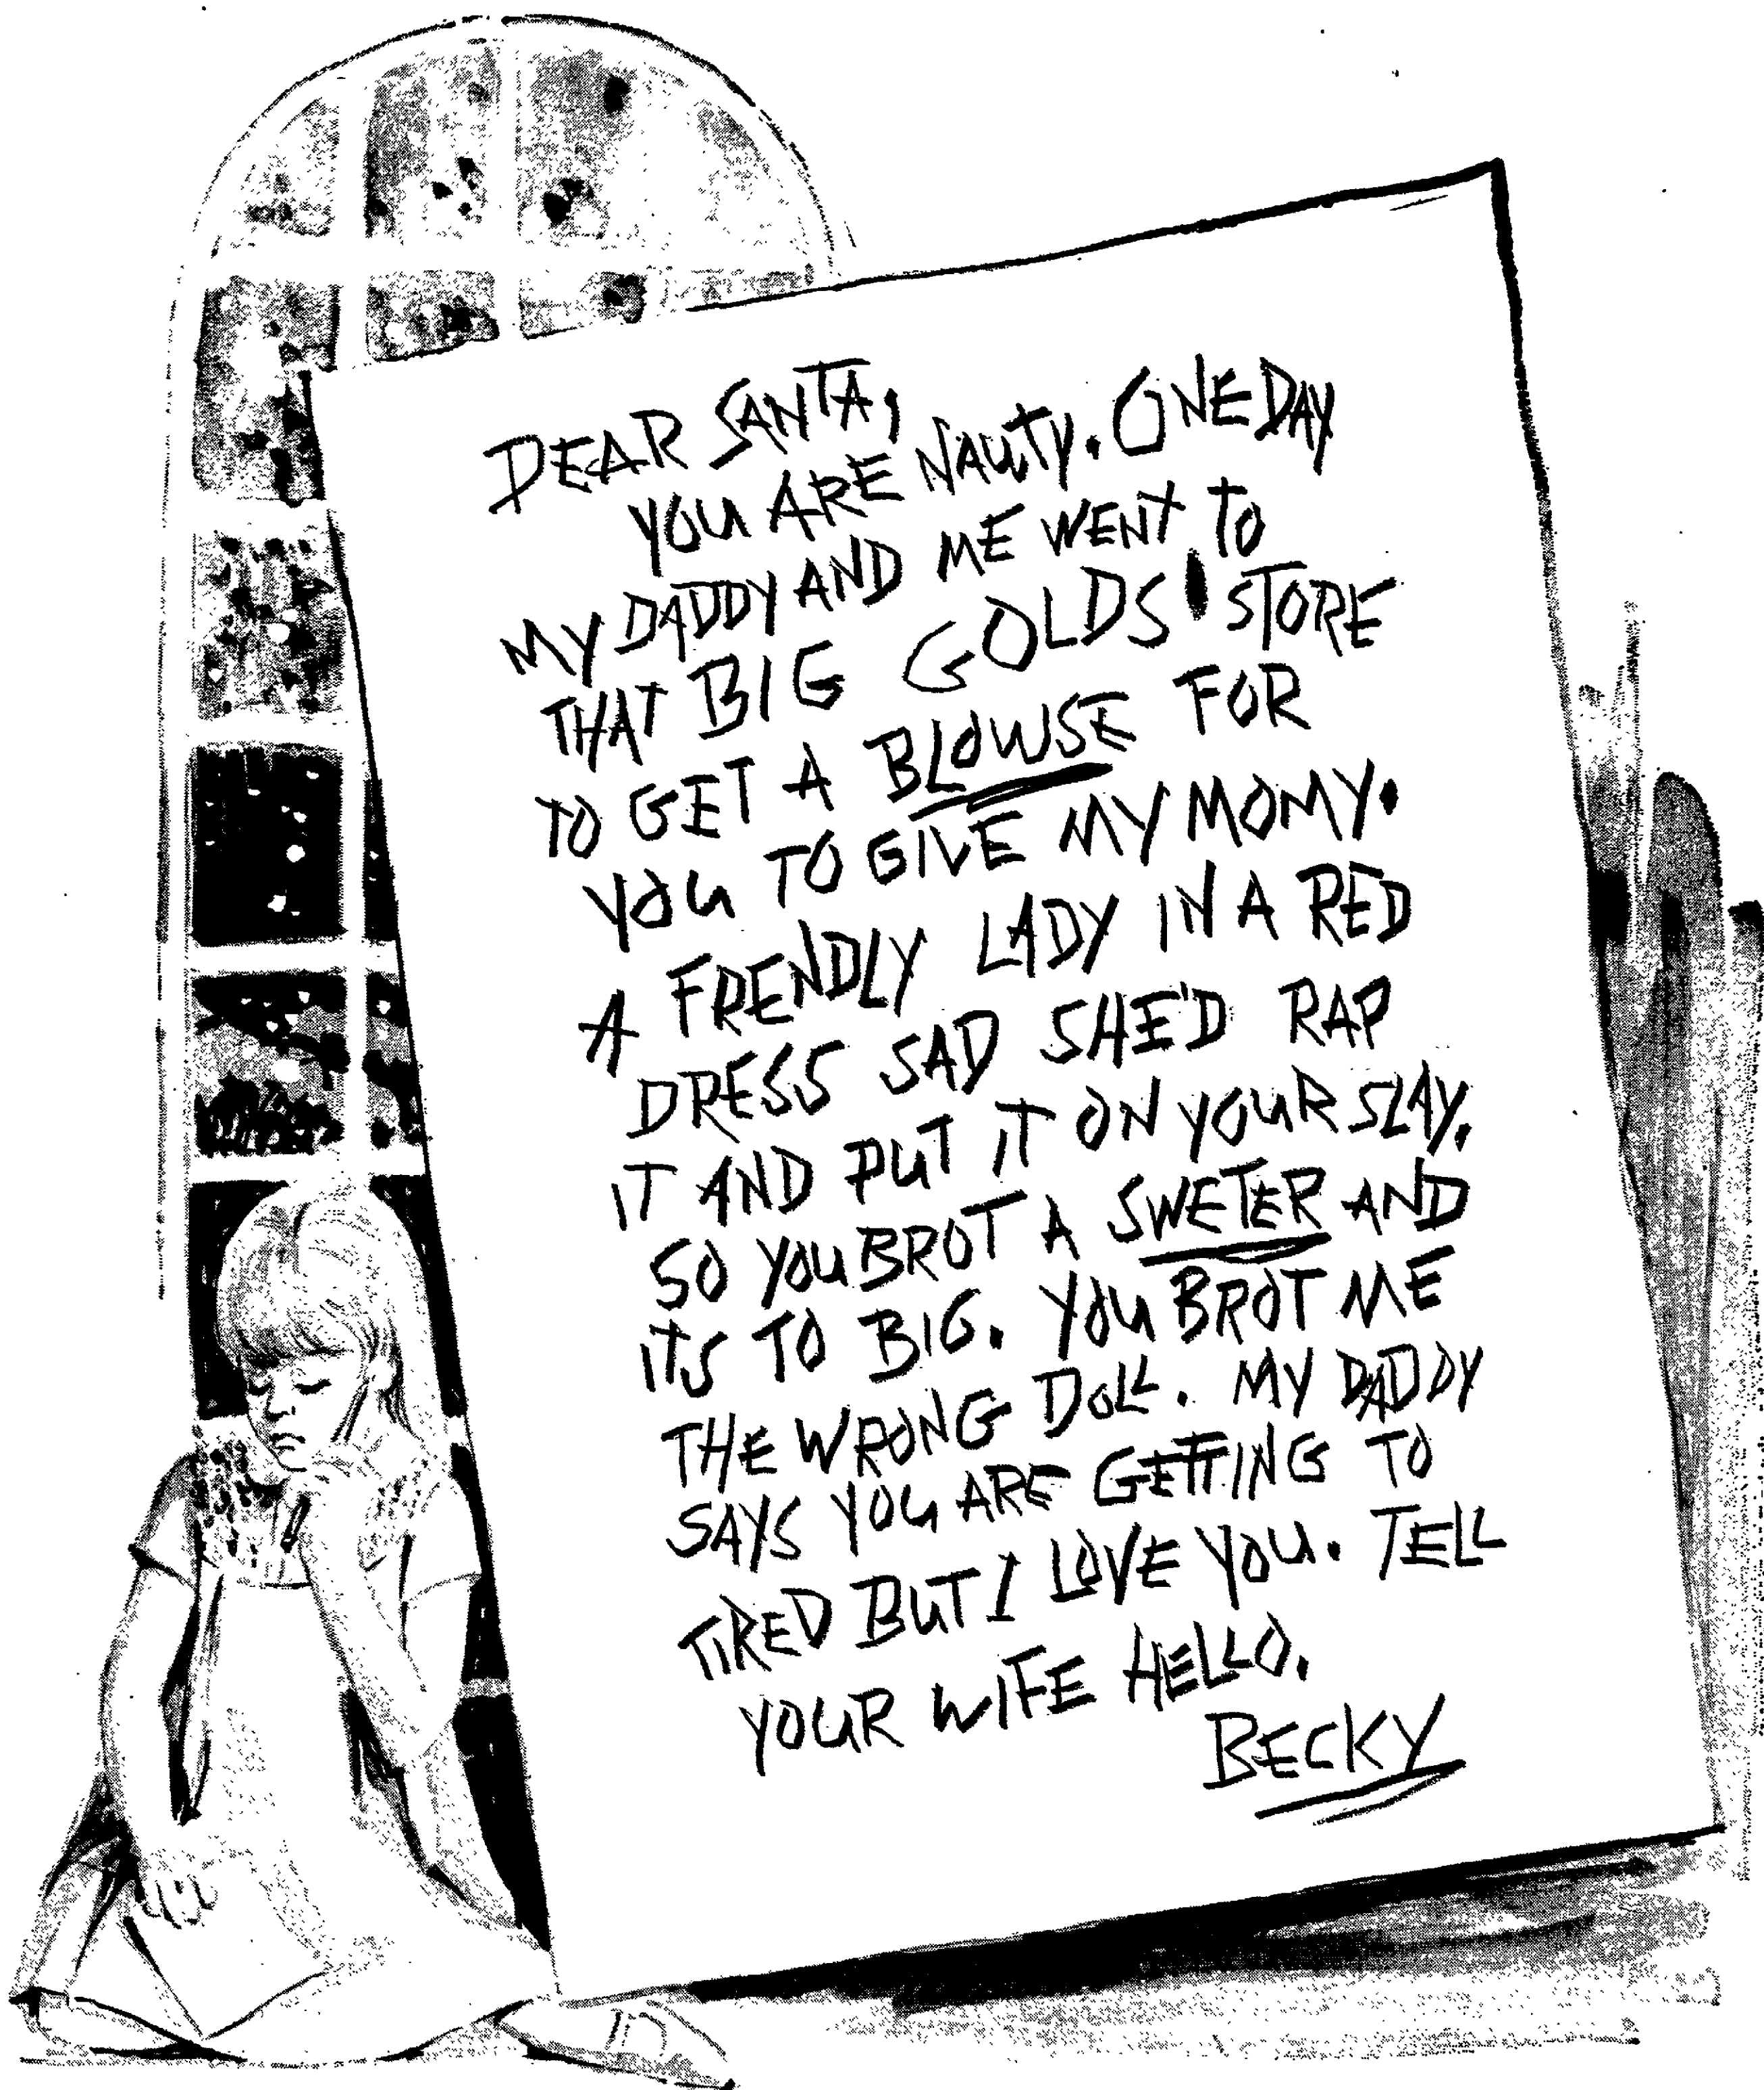

The Soviet news agency Tass professed to find "an air of despondency" in the United States over the Viet Nam war.

It was a day of frustration for many Italians and other foreign workers employed in West Germany. Of the million foreign workers, West German railroad authorities said thousands were unable to spend Christmas vacations at home because there were not enough trains to carry them all. All outbound trains from West Germany were crowded Friday with foreign workers headed home laden with gifts.

Trains also were jammed out of Paris, but they were carrying Frenchmen to ski resorts in the mountains.

Woman Sea Captain

Warsaw (AP) — Poland's only woman sea captain, Danuta Walas-Kobylinska, has been named to command the 3,200-ton M.S. Lolobrzeg, now being completed at the Varna, Bulgaria, shipyards for a maiden voyage next March, the Polish shipping lines announced. She has been acting master of the freighter Wilja.

DEAR SANTA,
YOU ARE NAUTY. ONE DAY
MY DADDY AND ME WENT TO THAT BIG GOLDS STORE TO GET A BLOWSE FOR YOU TO GIVE MY MOMMY.
A FRENDLY LADY IN A RED
DRESS SAD SHE'D RAP
IT AND PUT IT ON YOUR SLAY,
SO YOU BROT A SWETER AND ITS TO BIG. YOU BROT ME
THE WRONG DOLL. MY DADDY SAYS YOU ARE GETTING TO
TIRED BUT I LOVE YOU. TELL YOUR WIFE HELLO.
BECKY

MANY HAPPY RETURNS

Don't be too hard on Santa, Becky, keeping people happy at Christmastime is a pretty big job. Besides, we've been covering up for the old darling's mistakes for years. So if it's too big or too small; if it's the wrong color or just wrong for you, bring it back to Gold's. We'll be happy to do something about it. (Just don't tell Santa).

But the joy of Christmas broke through on two fronts of conflict—the Holy Land and Berlin.

Holy City Gate Open

While Israel and Jordan are technically at war, Jordan opened the Jerusalem gate to about 5,000 Christians from Israel who joined 15,000 pilgrims from around the world in Bethlehem to celebrate the birth of Jesus, the Prince of Peace.

Though the ugly Red wall of concrete and barbed wire that spreads like a scar across Berlin streamed 20,000 West Berliners for Christmas reunions with relatives in the communist East. The West Berliners were issued passes by East German officials.

In the rest of West Germany, many families placed candles in windows for relatives in East Germany prevented from attending reunions in the West.

There was little rest for the British in Africa, where African nations are pressing them to use force to end the independence proclaimed by the white rulers of Rhodesia.

Dominicans Shut In

In the Western Hemisphere, most people in the Dominican Republic are spending Christmas Day indoors—the motive is fear. Rebel partisans and the military in the past week have been shooting it out.

Like most Americans, President Johnson is spending Christmas Day with his family. He was back home at his ranch on the banks of the Pedernales River in Texas.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara thanked Americans for donating 470 tons of gifts to U.S. soldiers in Viet Nam. These gifts were in addition to those the soldiers received from relatives and friends.

Giving, Getting

But the soldiers in Viet Nam were giving as well as receiving. Throughout South Viet Nam, U.S. servicemen threw Christmas parties around their encampments for Vietnamese children.

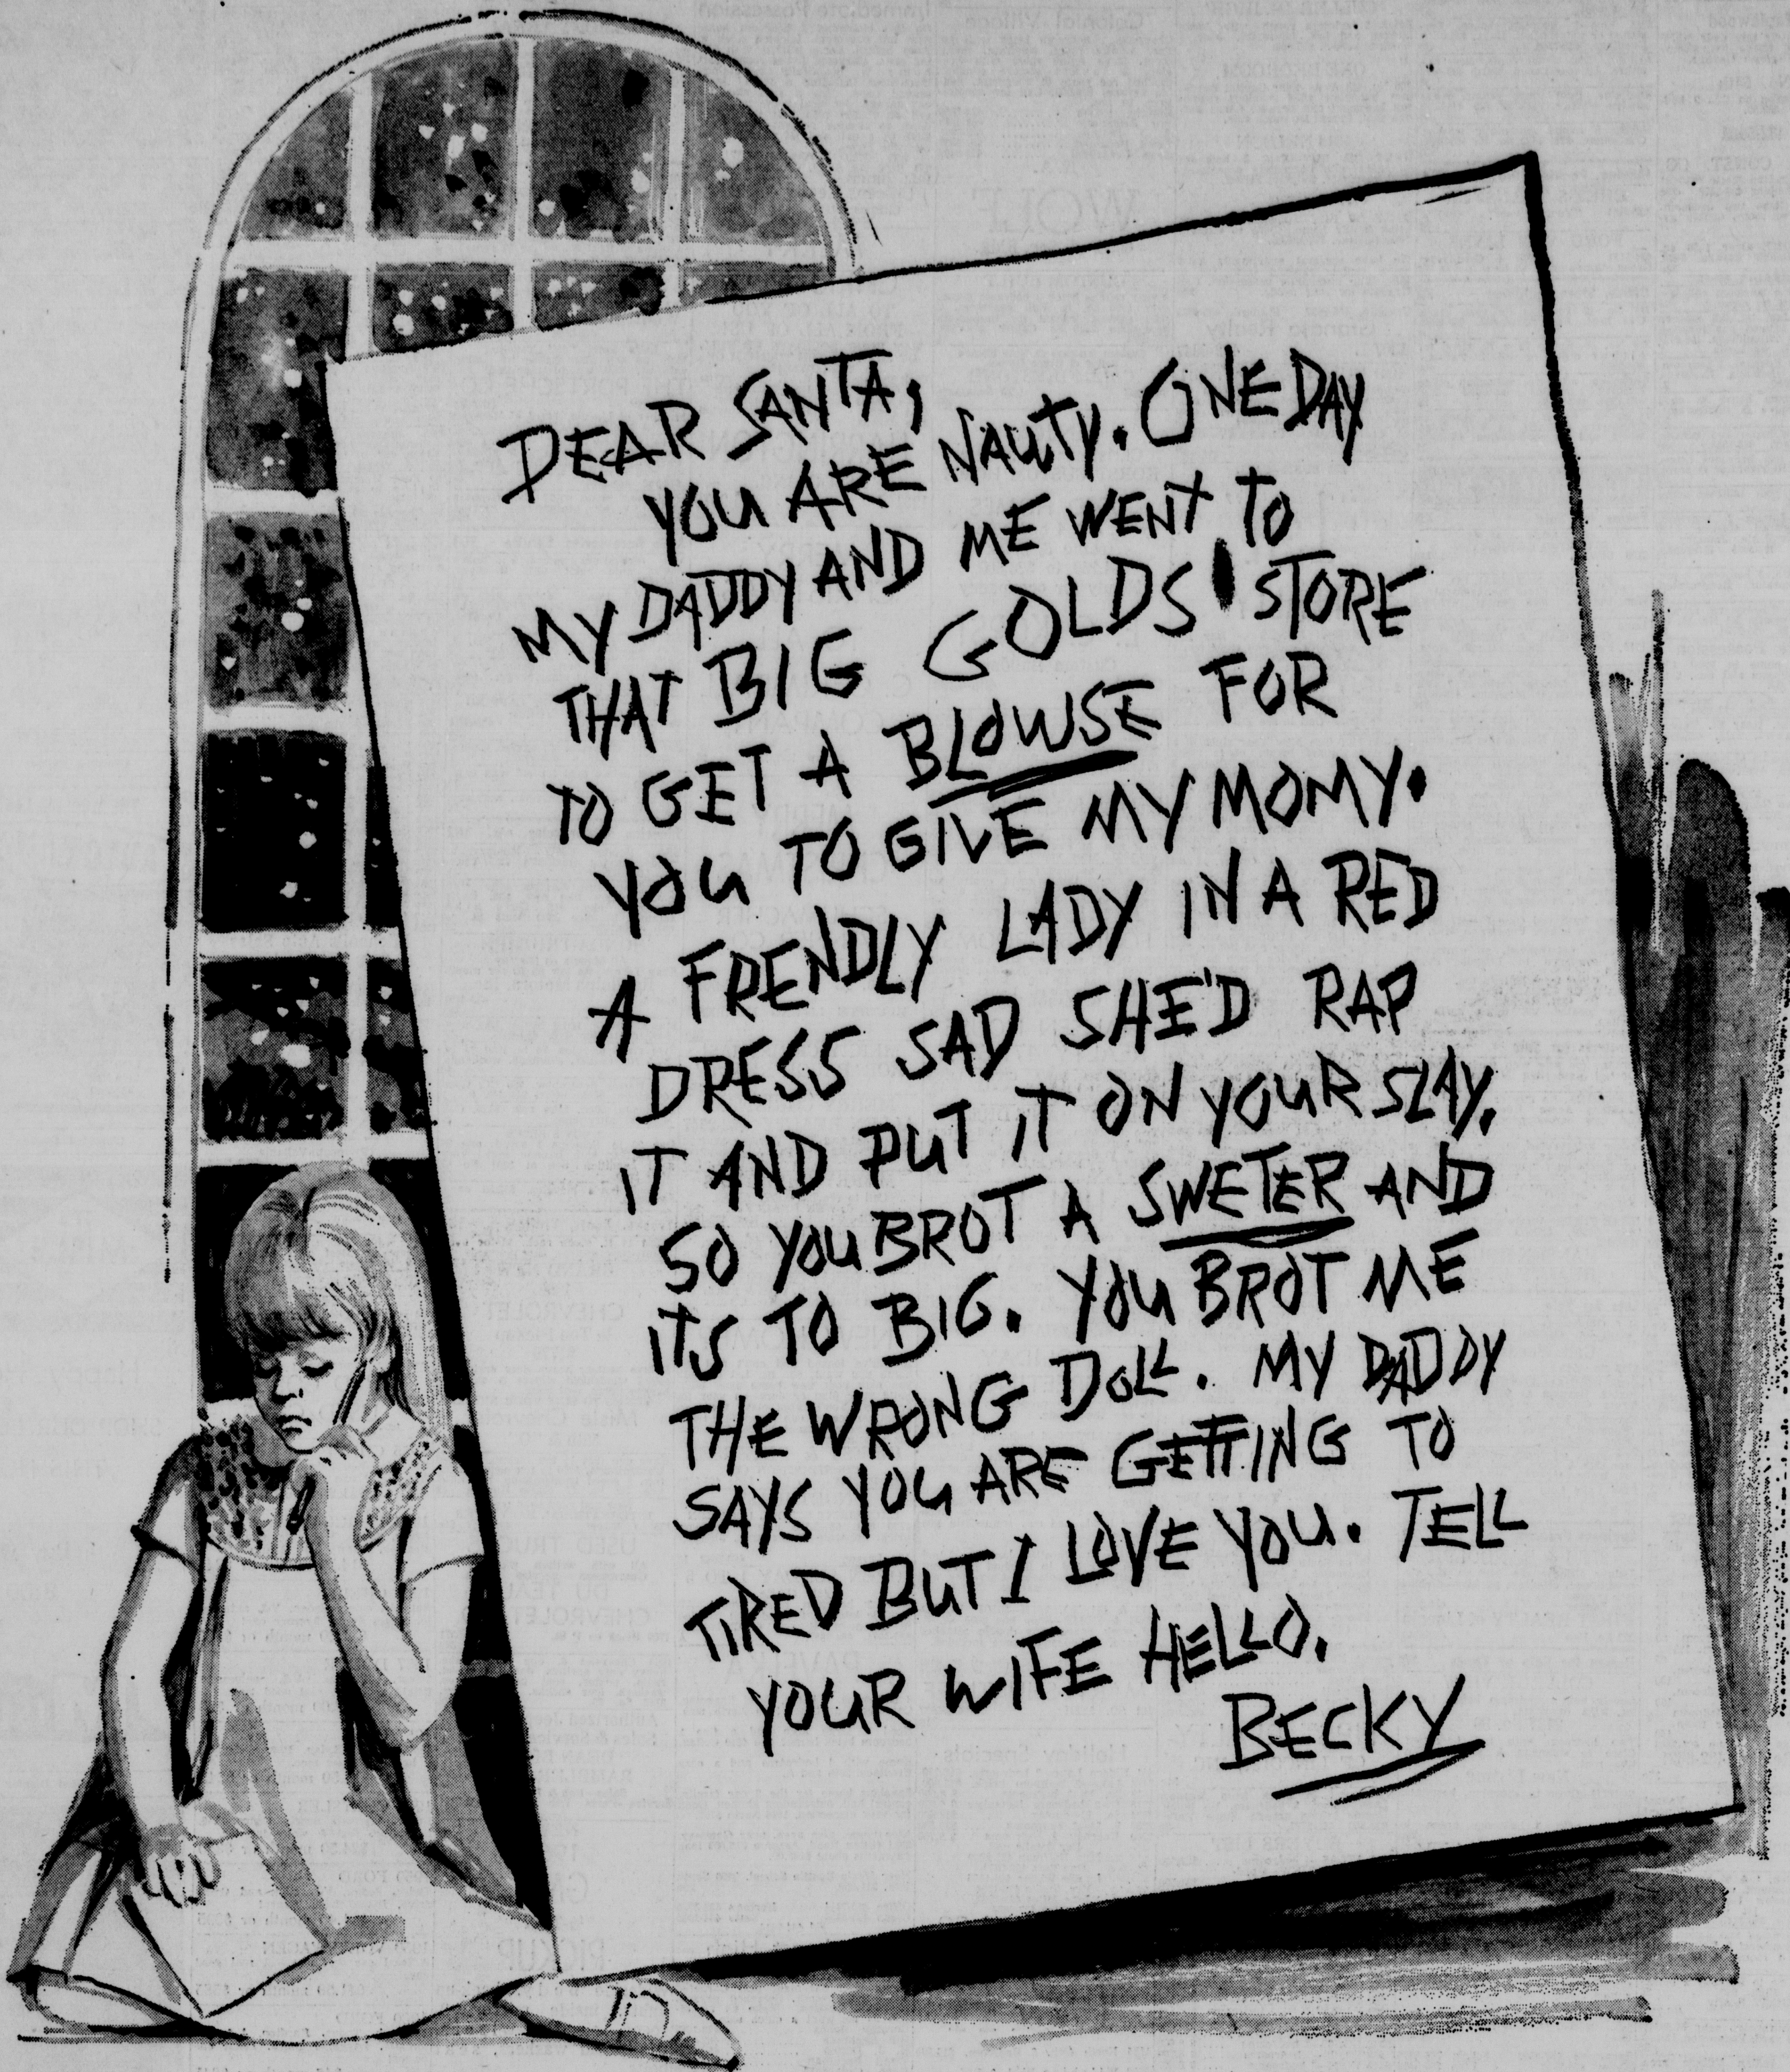

The Soviet news agency Tass professed to find "an air of despondency" in the United States over the Viet Nam war.

It was a day of frustration for many Italians and other foreign workers employed in West Germany. Of the million foreign workers, West German railroad authorities said thousands were unable to spend Christmas vacations at home because there were not enough trains to carry them all. All outbound trains from West Germany were crowded Friday with foreign workers headed home laden with gifts.

Trains also were jammed out of Paris, but they were carrying Frenchmen to ski resorts in the mountains.

Woman Sea Captain

Warsaw (P) — Poland's only woman sea captain, Danuta Walas-Kobylnska, has been named to command the 3,200-ton M.S. Lolobrzeg, now being completed at the Varna, Bulgaria, shipyards for a maiden voyage next March, the Polish shipping lines announced. She has been acting master of the freighter Wilja.

MANY HAPPY RETURNS

Don't be too hard on Santa, Becky, keeping people happy at Christmastime is a pretty big job. Besides, we've been covering up for the old darling's mistakes for years. So if it's too big or too small; if it's the wrong color or just wrong for you, bring it back to Gold's. We'll be happy to do something about it. (Just don't tell Santa).
